We must take time to live as well as make a living;

time for music
that washes away
the dust of everyday life time for friendships time for walks

beneath the stars and talks by the fire.

Time for little children that we may once again find the kingdom of heaven in our heart.

Time for laughter
time for letting go—time to love and be loved

for love is the greatest thing in the world.

Administration Leads in Making Things Better

Finding new solutions to old problems was the main goal of Prep's administration this year. The Student Council worked with Mr. Jesse Howell, principal, to help alleviate some of the tension created in the first two years of Prep's existence.

The Dress code, for example, was liberalized to enfold the acceptance of longer hair and jeans.

School sponsored dances became more wide-spread, as did academically-related parties. There was, during certain times, hot debate about a student board being able to sit in on administrative board meetings, helping to make decisions that were relevant to student life.

With the guidance of Miss Janet Smith and Mrs. Margaret Miller, students began to open up in the wide and wonderful world. Getting ready for college and jobs, students were not only counselled but consoled in achievement and defeat. Mrs. Miller left at the end of first semester; however, her co-worker, Miss Smith, took on the immense job of helping nearly 500 students in the Senior High.

Friendliness, Hard Work is Predominate As Administration Offers Assistance

Mrs. Corine Frizzell combined forces with Coach Jerry White to aid all Junior High students in any way possible. Several events took place due to much effort on the part of these two individuals, such as Derby Day, Red-Neck Day, and the trip to the ever popular Evangeline country for the eighth grade students. A school can't exist, however, without the ladies in the front office, Mrs. Wanda Park and Mrs. Jo Graham. They made announcements, gave out admittances, sent notes, and a million other things that are common in dealing with young people. While these ladies were busy, though, Mrs. Carol Tate, Mrs. Doyle Davis (who took a leave of absence after the start of the school year), and Mrs. Nell Loper kept the finances clear and Prep out of the red. Mrs. Wynne, Prep's new librarian, aided students in finding research information, along with adding a sunny smile and good disposition to Prep's fine administration.

“My main future objective for my classes is to prepare them as well as possible for Freshman English, and whatever follows that!”

“To be, or not to be, . . .”

New Approaches to an Old Problem: OR

With the study of Medieval England comes the repetition of age old notes. Thus faced with a plight, Prep's English teachers sought answers to their needs in the old phrase, "Variety is the spice of life." Mrs. Kneeland's fifth period English class held a Chaucerian banquet and gorged on the magnificent goodies.

Other English Classes solved similar situations by panel discussions, individual research, projects galore, and abundant papers. A new learning experience such as this, however, kept students interested and willing to learn along with allowing teachers to express their individuality.

Mind-Broadening and Eye-opening Social Studies Projects Add to Curriculum

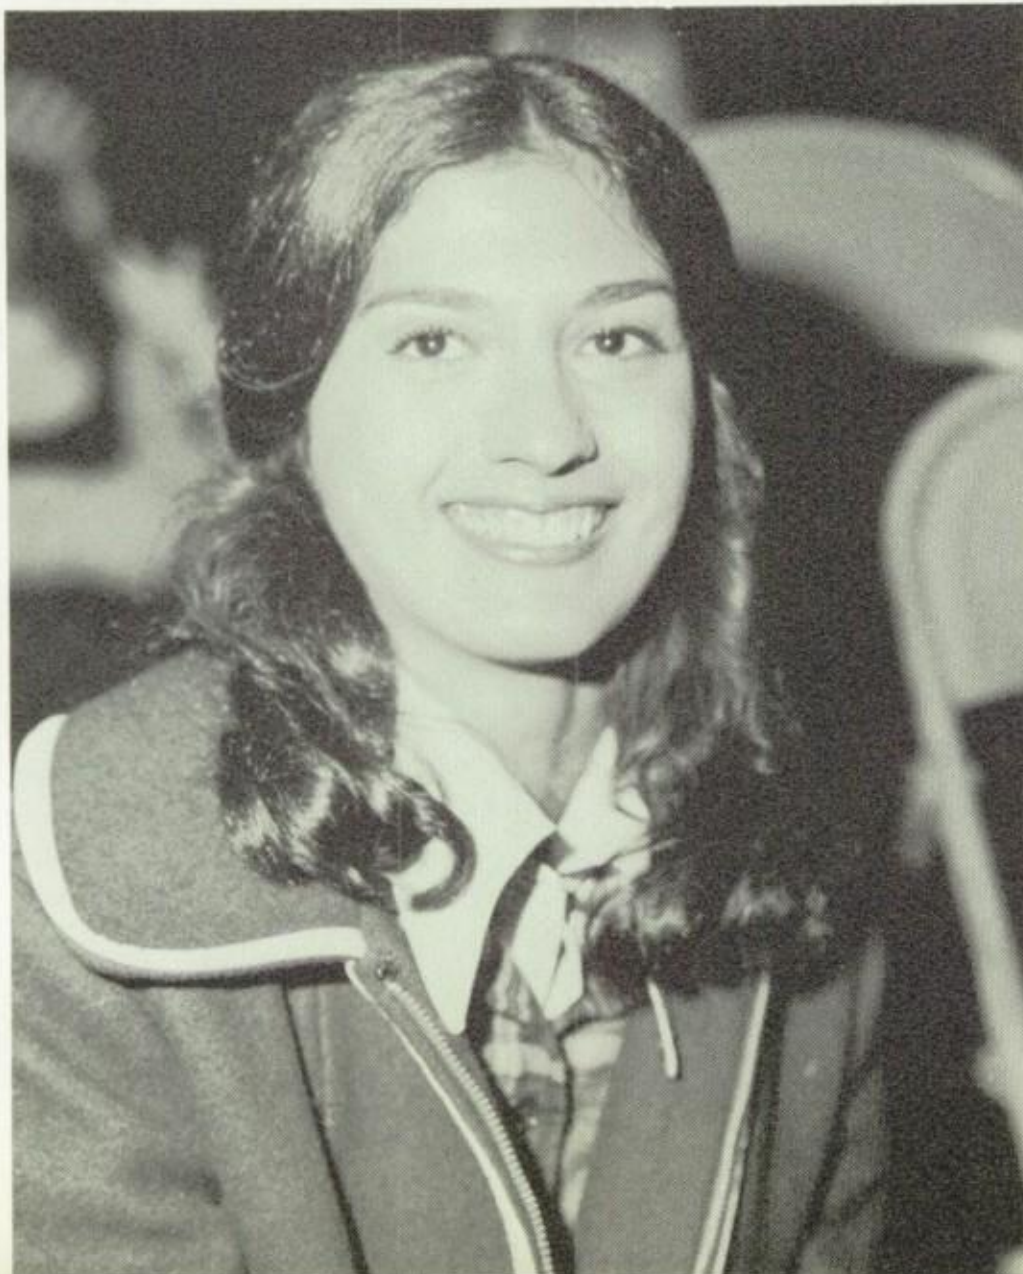

Below: Giving out papers is quite a job, as Mrs. Sally Norton discovers in her world history class. Opposite: Our roving photographer finds two history teachers relaxing; Coach Marble, top, takes time for some coffee. Below, Miss Jodie Nader offers a smile as she enjoys a football game.

Varied educational projects brightened up the social studies department at Prep this year. For example, a political convention took place for Mrs. Fitzgerald's government classes between the Federalists and the Nationalists. Sociology classes showed increased concern with understanding society and change through student polls and field trips to such places as Parchman, Whitfield, and to Riverside Hospital.

Miss Worthen and Mrs. Reynolds held a mock-election, and later in the year, Miss Worthen and Mrs. Allen held a European Day for seventh grade students. In accordance with the celebration, each student was to wear a costume from a European country; the festivities were climaxed by a huge feast, which consisted of foods from every land. The government classes had their taste of the unusual when they participated in an international banquet.

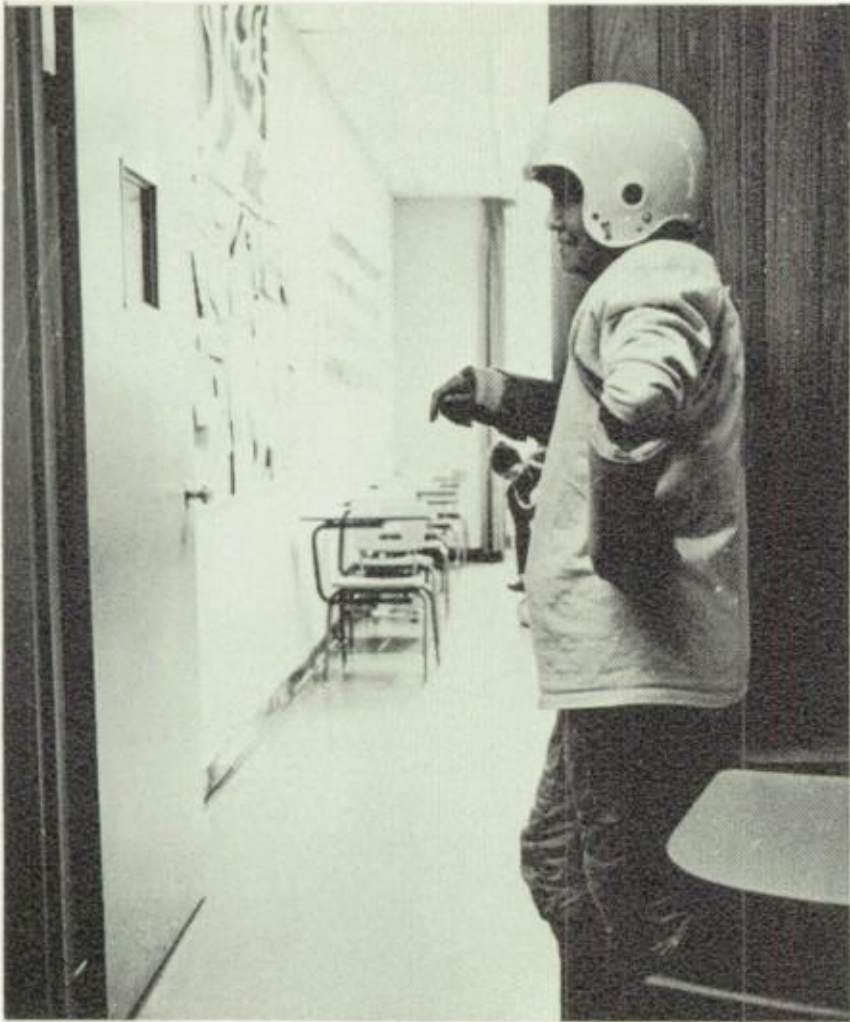

Many teachers felt that such projects were highly beneficial, not only for the intellectual growth, but also for acquainting students unfamiliar with one another to those they did not know. Nevertheless, these projects did their share in aiding the growth of the social studies curriculum at Prep this year.

Laboratory hours increased as bigger, more modern equipment was acquired by science classes this year. With the addition of the teletype terminal, Prep's own scientists worked difficult and detailed problems, finding answers to some of their own scientific mysteries. The terminal is tied-in to a computer at Millsaps on a time sharing basis.

The concerned science teachers took time out of their own busy schedules, going to seminars on the BASIC computer language and learning about current topics dealing with science. They hoped to keep the subjects relevant and pertinent; the sacrificing attitude these dedicated people displayed aided in making class more unusual for students.

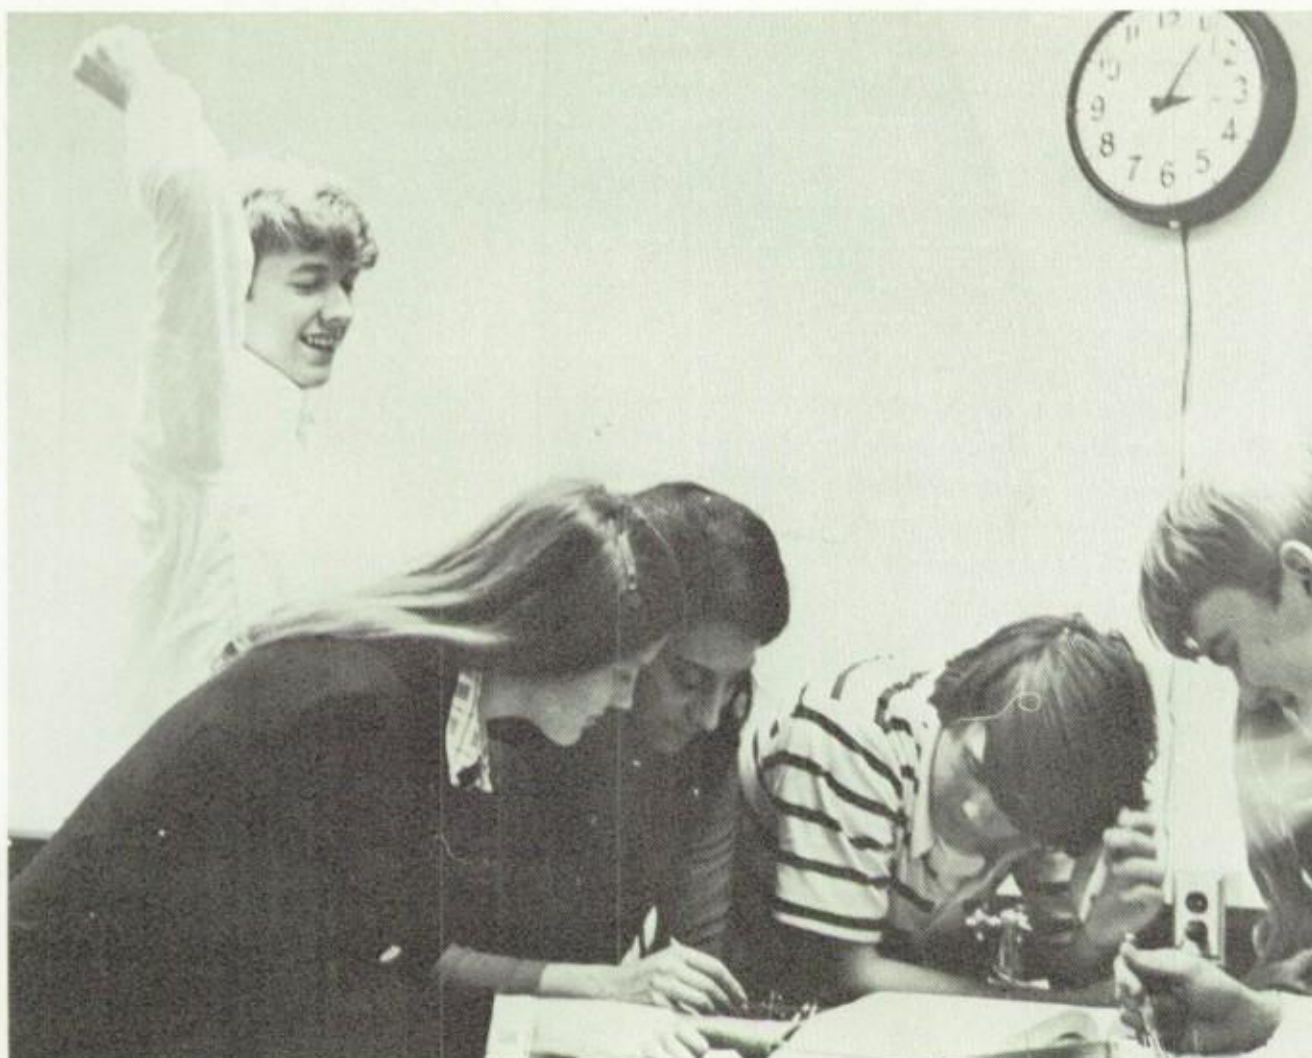

Science projects filled the spare moments as many students rushed to complete their entries for Jackson Prep's first science fair. Exhibits by junior high and high school students filled the gym. Winners in some fourteen categories went on to the district fair in hope of going on to statewide competition. Mr. John H. Ballard, director of the fair, considered it an enormous success.

Ready? How About a Game of CHOMP?

The Math Department entered a new age this year with the introduction of a computer terminal. BASIC became the official tongue of second-semester Pre-Calculus students as they learned programming techniques. However, idealistic teachers soon found their helper being used for games such as "Chomp" (a type of computer tic-tac-toe).

Many changes also occurred in mathematics curricula. Advanced Math was replaced by two semester courses, Trigonometry and Analytical Geometry. Accelerated Math was likewise absorbed by Analytical Geometry and Modern Math, also semester pre-cal courses. Junior High agonized through the rigorous routine of basic geometry and pre-algebra.

The three language courses offered at Prep, French, Spanish, and Latin, offered many opportunities for Patriots to learn about other lands and about each other.

The largest group of students seemed to be in the Spanish classes, which planned a trip to Mexico during Spring holidays. Along with exploring cultural landmarks, Prep's Spanish students experienced first-hand cultivation of conversational Spanish.

The French classes also planned excursions; one trip was made to New Orleans, another to a local French restaurant, "Le Bourguignon," along with an in depth study of the geography of France.

"Darling Dot" Mann and Judy McKeigney lead Prep's division of the JCL. These lovely ladies guarded their empire with great care, and when Slave Day came around, they planned and plotted, "Who will be our slaves this year?"

Bouncing with Activity, Bursting with Fun!

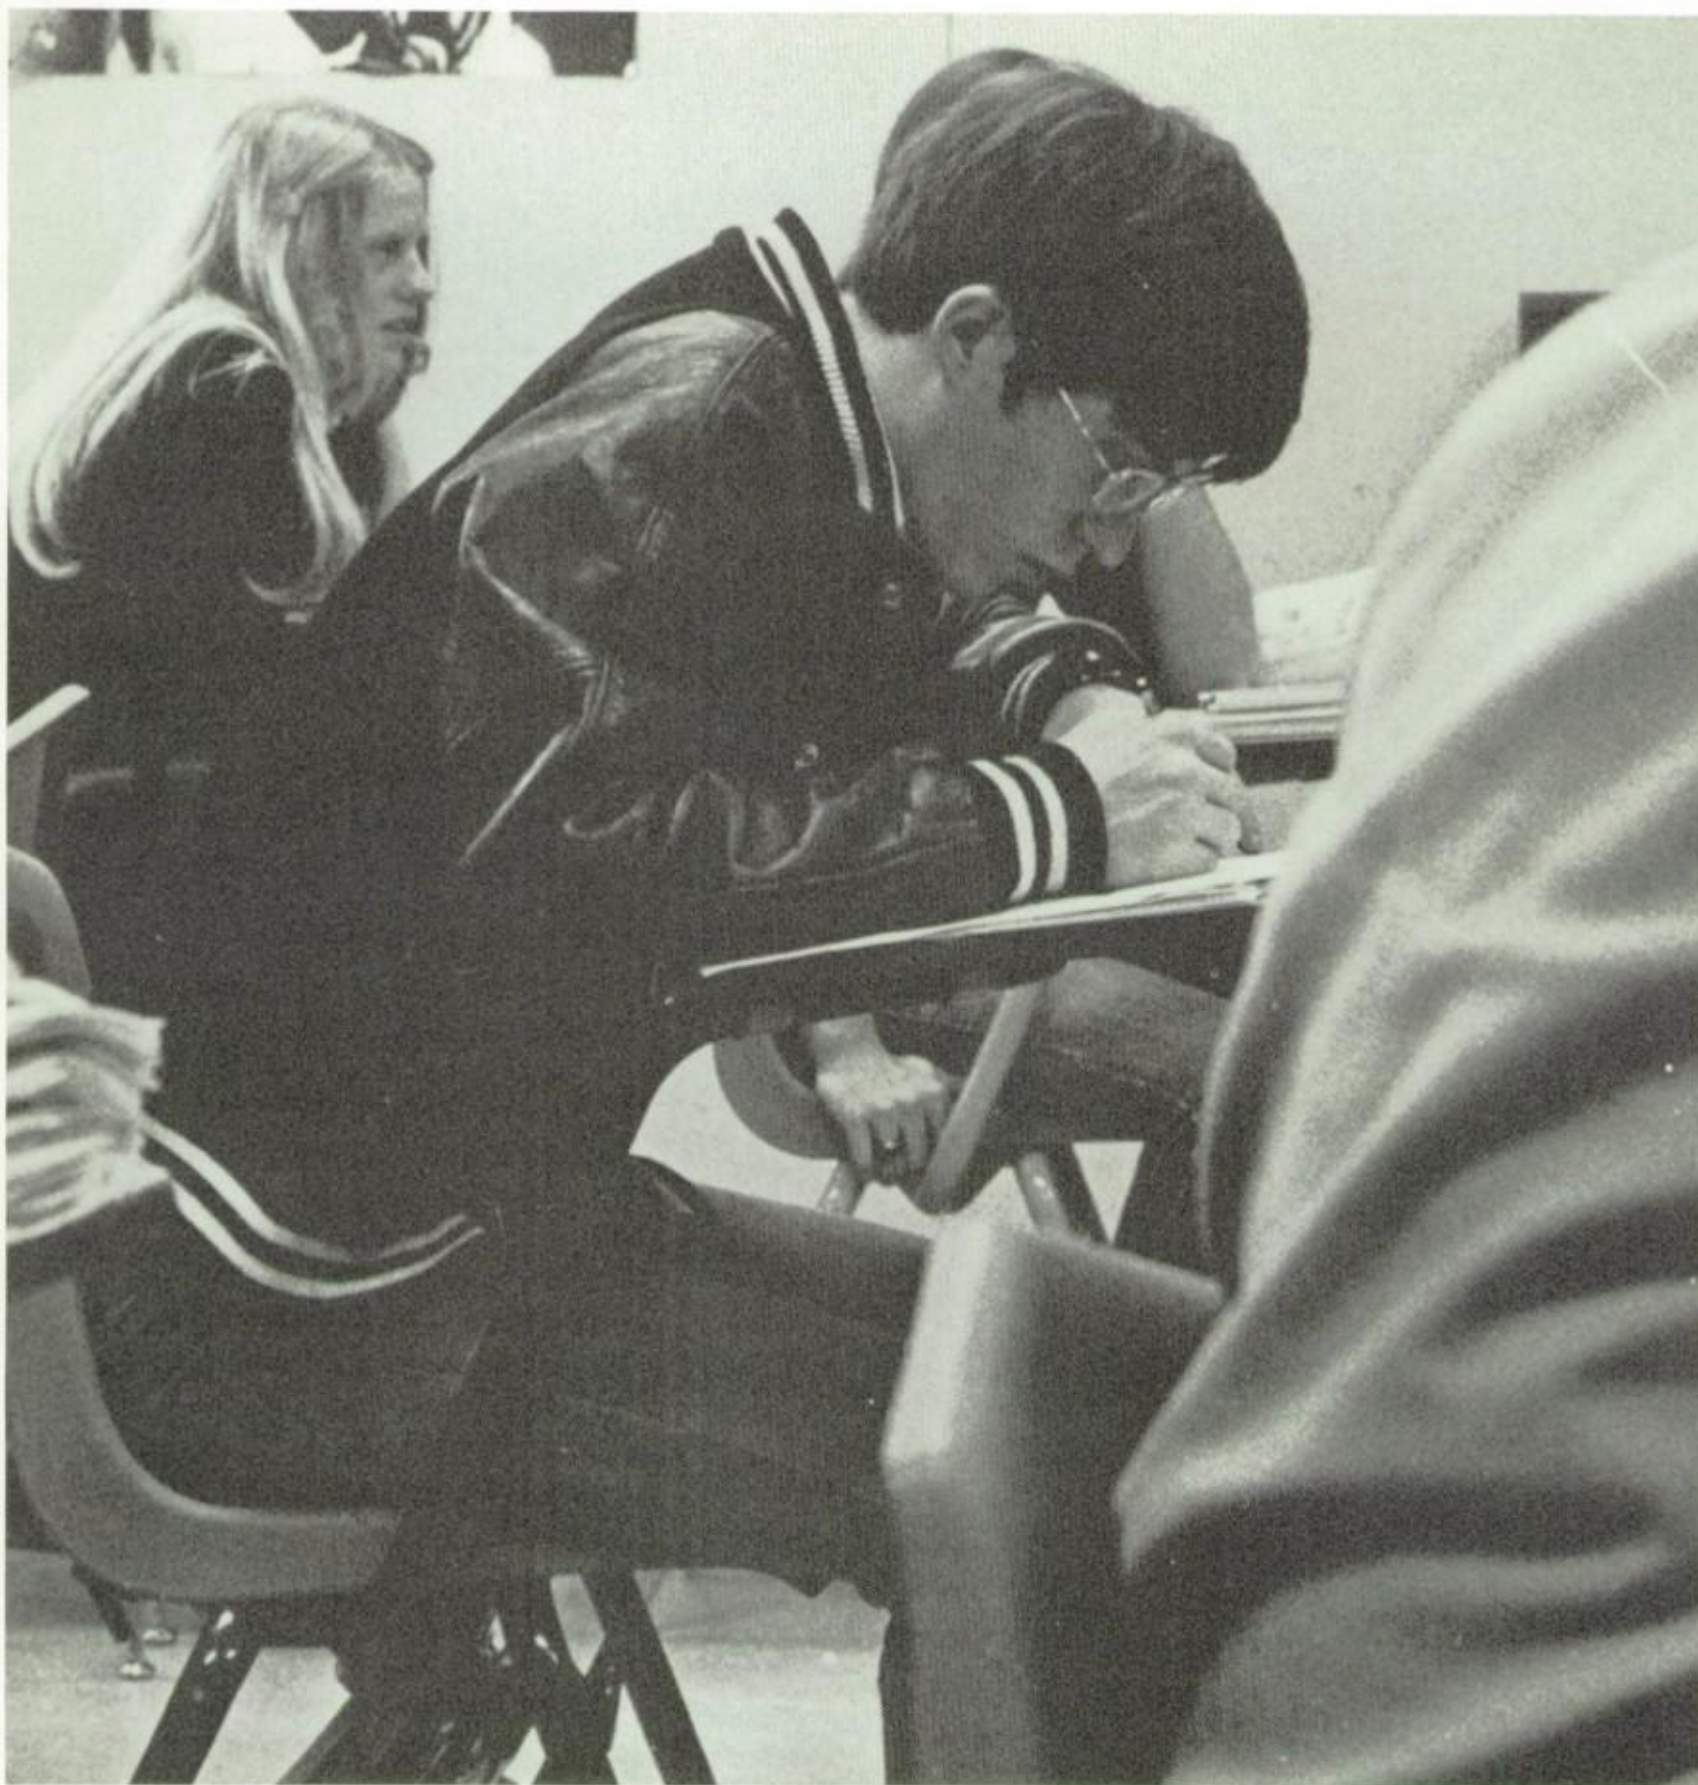

Intra-murals and mother-daughter tournaments were seen on the horizon of the gym classes at Prep this year. Miss Beth Bates and Miss Sarah Beth Jordan co-ordinated new and innovative ideas with Coaches O'Hara and Harmon, coming up with several alternatives such as co-ed volley ball, intra-mural ping-pong and basketball, along with bowling for several classes. The increase in a varied physical education course helped students in keeping in mind the importance of a well-balanced intellectual and physical growth.

Tenth graders hustled through Driver's Education and rushed to get their licenses. Study halls diligently worked to maintain the high standards of excellence required of all Prep students.

Educating and Exciting—

Students and faculty found a few relaxing moments in the enjoyable electives offered at Prep. Choral Music provided many alternatives as the classes participated in a District Festival at Manhattan in March, and Home Economics classes explored the science of cooking and housekeeping. Perhaps dreaming of more of a chance in the world of business, typing, notehand, and bookkeeping students took advantage of the facilities offered at Prep.

Studies of the masters, of color, and design filled the moments of the art classes at Prep as Prep's Coach White displayed his own work through the halls of the school. Coach Richardson aided those with T-squares in hand and taught the mechanical drawing class for Patriots.

Bible classes were provided for the Junior High and Senior High this year, as were the speech classes. Mr. Cauthen's band added one more note to the music department at Prep, as the band members concentrated on sound improvement.

One more elective was added this year—Dramatics, a semester-long course. Students discovered the pleasures of getting to know each other better, along with learning freedom of expression.

“It’s a learning experience. It has to be!”

A Day in the Life of a Prep Teacher Is . . .

. . . Sometimes repititious as Mrs. Strom found as Melanie May began her recitation of "To be or not to be . . ."

. . . Sometimes fearful, as Mrs. McAdory will agree from her perch on a table in the lounge to escape a mouse.

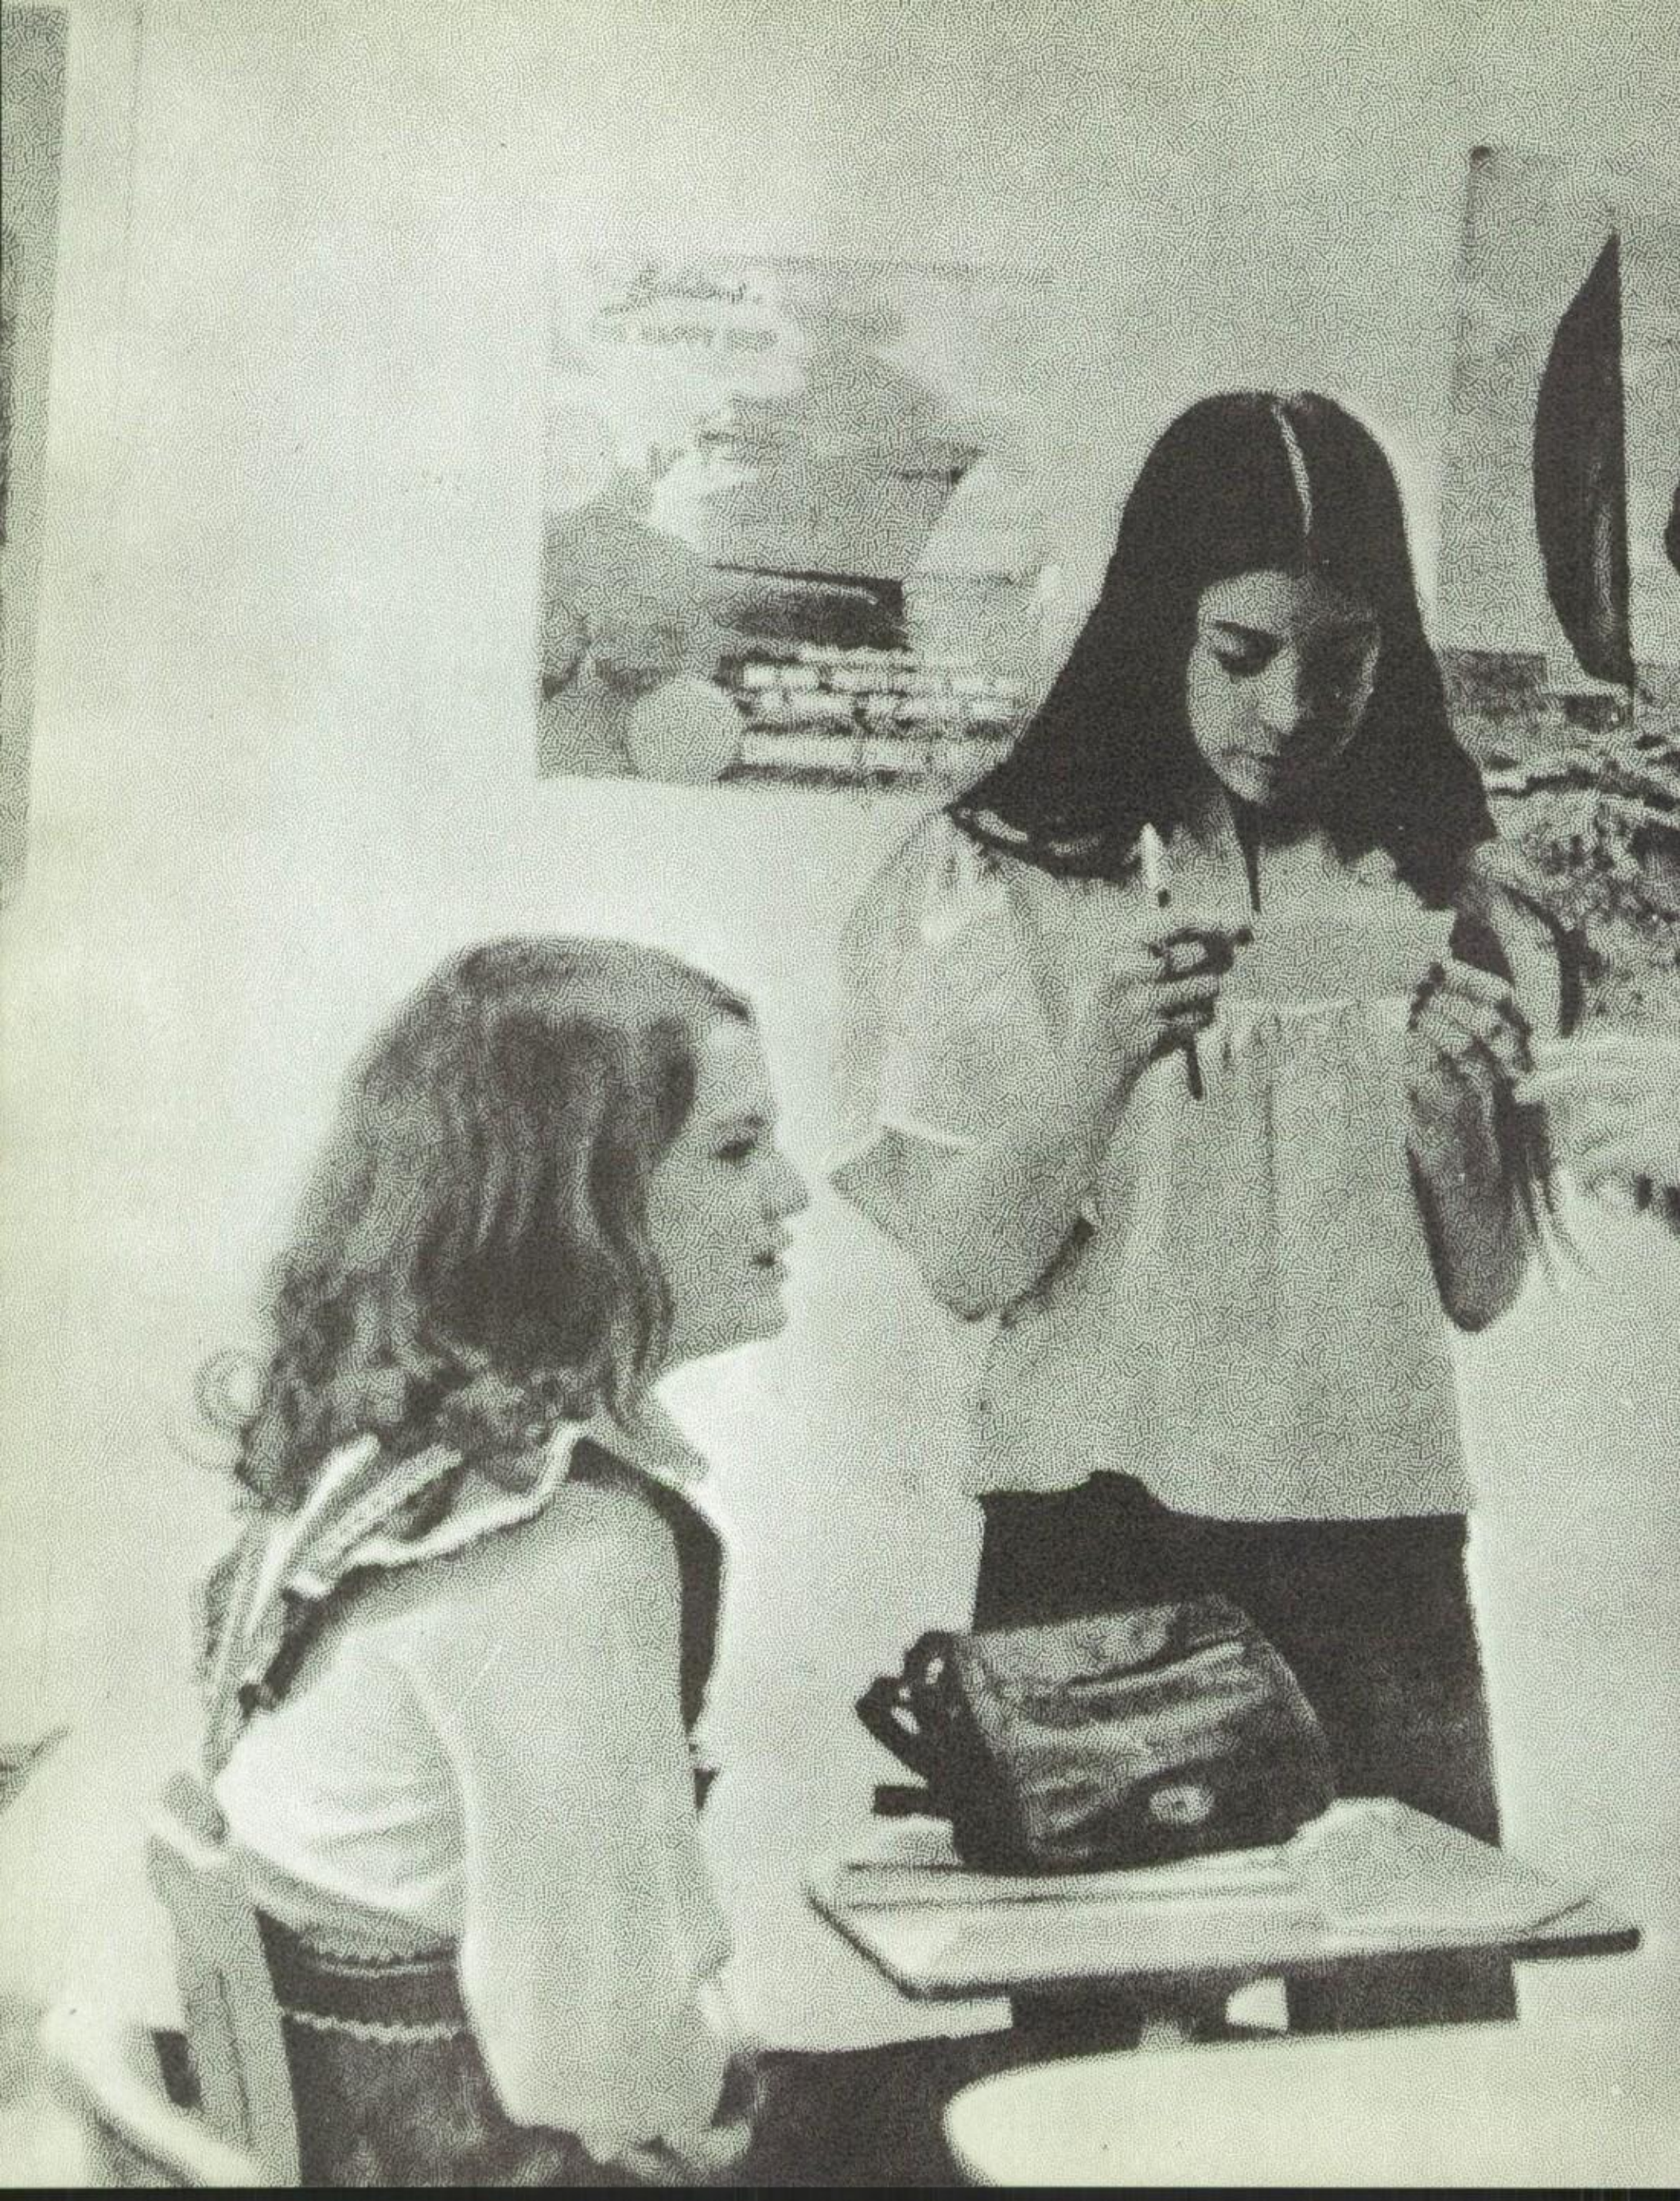

. . . Sometimes trying, a fact discovered by Mrs. Wilkinson as she explains how to thread a sewing machine for the twelfth time.

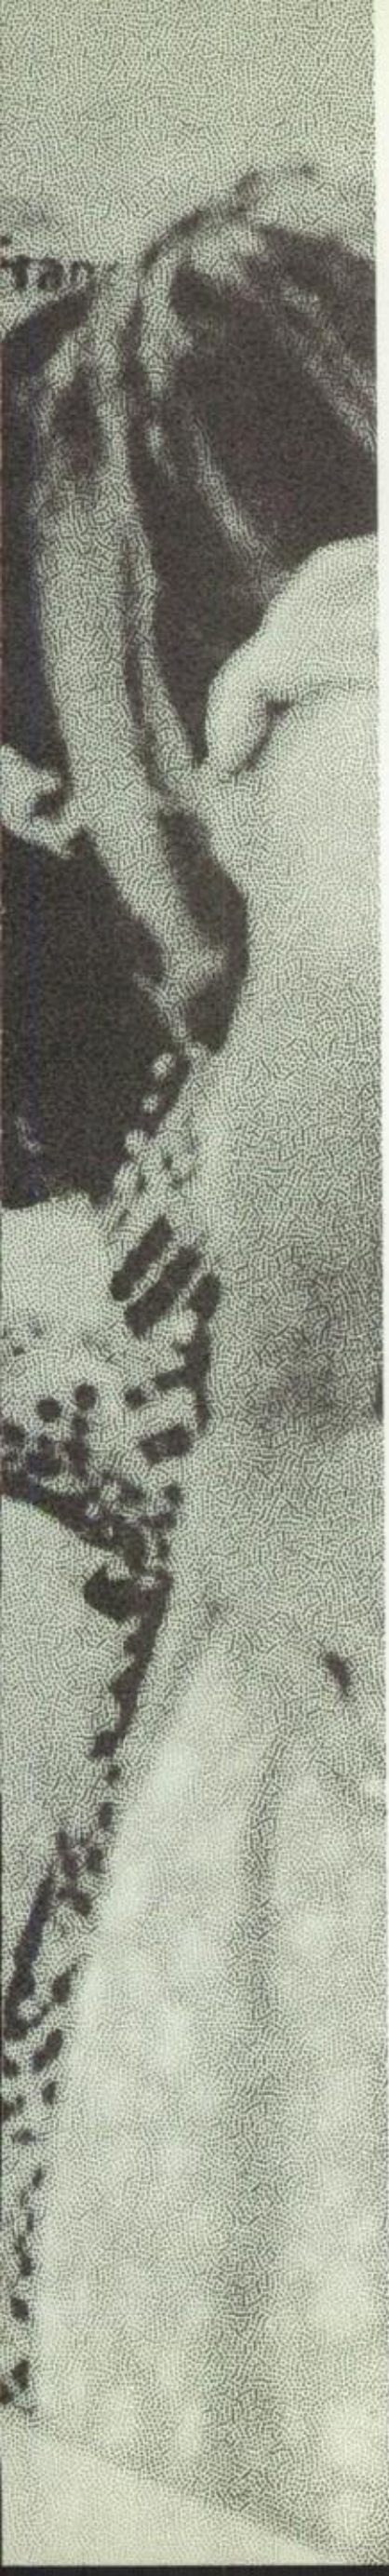

. . . Sometimes too short, discovered by Mrs. Fitzgerald who has to use her free period for grading tests.

. . . Sometimes rewarding, such as when Ellen Kirby chose Mrs. Sandra Strom as her STAR teacher.

Yearly Festivities —New Queen

Many months of hard work and planning went into the preparation for the festivities of one day—the second annual Jackson Prep Homecoming. Included in the activities of the day were the judging of floats and a presentation of the maids and their escorts in the gym. The culmination of the events was the football game and the crowning of the new Homecoming Queen. The anti-climactic conclusion came with the defeat of the Patriots after two seasons of unquestioned reign.

Prep's First Play Becomes Dirty Work

The lights dimmed, the crowd's mumbling faded softly, the piano began its gay nineties melody, and the curtain rose, starting Jackson Prep's first dramatic production, Dirty Work at the Crossroads. The cast included Mike Robertson, Mike Cutrer, Katherine Rone, Becky Caver, Sylvia Foster, Owen DeWitt, June Woodbridge, Suzanne Smith, Elizabeth Brewer, and Pam Lehan. This group of novice actors, under the direction of Margaret Graham, mastered all of their nervousness into a dramatic force that produced a smashing performance and set Prep's dramatic season off with a bang.

Thurberesque Splendor Fills the Stage

On the night of March 29th, with the aid of nine versatile actors, an outstanding production staff, the brilliant direction of Margaret Graham, and one large orange and white parachute, the Jackson Prep gym was cleverly transformed into the setting of "A Thurber Carnival," Prep's second dramatic endeavor. The cast included: Doug Guyton, Joel Alvis, Vaughan McRae, Mike Robertson, Lee Howell, Frances Lavelle, Margaret Williams, Kathy Felder, and Katherine Rone. The play has no set plot, but is a series of sketches taken from some of Thurber's best works, with accompanying music and with each actor playing several different roles in various sketches.

"Winnie the Pooh" Enjoyed by All

"Isn't it funny how a bear likes honey?" These words charmed young and old alike when the Jackson Prep Players presented "Winnie the Pooh" at the Mississippi Arts Festival. The play was also performed for the Mississippi Crippled Children's Hospital and in the gym for Prep students. Under the direction of Mrs. Margaret Graham, the bold drama was the story of the treacherous invasion of the forest by Kanga and her miniature offspring Roo. The play also included the abduction of Piglet and his rescue by Pooh, who saved his best friend from the anguish of a bath. The play and cast were dubbed a rousing success.

Bottom: Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Graham. Above: The stage crew (Randolph Wood, Morris Alexander, Joel Alvis, Paul Weathersby, Lisa Graham, Owen Dewitt, and Margaret Williams).

"Spoon River Anthology"

On Friday, April 13, Mrs. Bowen brought her dramatics class to life with the haunting production of Edgar Lee Master's "Spoon River Anthology." The play included a set of short poetic characteristics in the form of epitaphs from a village graveyard. Not only was the play produced for entertainment, but also provided a substantial amount of money for the financially embarrassed literary magazine, Earthwinds.

Pep Rallies Boost Spirit

Amidst the adding machine tape, water balloons, smoke bombs, confetti, and apathy, students gathered in the gym for an exhibition of school spirit and pent-up emotions. Following a thirty-minute session of stomping, yelling, screaming, and cheering, the gym was left in an aftermath of wet, ink-stained bleachers and burned floor. This was called the most exciting pep rally of the year.

Honors Day Recognizes

John Dunbar, Student Body President, delivers his final comments to the class of '73.

Sophomores receive honors for academic excellence.

Hall of Fame recipients reflect on three years of work.

Outstanding Students

The second annual High School Honors Day program at Prep was held on May 9, 1973. In a program directed by Mr. Jesse Howell, headmaster, awards were given to those students in tenth through twelfth grades who had distinguished themselves either academically or in leadership abilities. Also recognized were the winners of the STAR Student and Teacher awards for 1973 and those seniors who had received scholarships to various colleges and universities. Eight seniors were named to the Hall of Fame this year on the basis of their achievements and contributions to the community life of Jackson Prep School. Student Body President, John Dunbar delivered his final address of the year, calling on the nostalgia of the seniors and challenging the class to ever move forward. A reception honoring the class of '73 and their parents followed the end of the program and seniors gathered in the foyer of the gym to remember old times and realize that their high school years would soon be at an end.

Mr. Howell extends congratulations to Katherine Rone on her accomplishments.

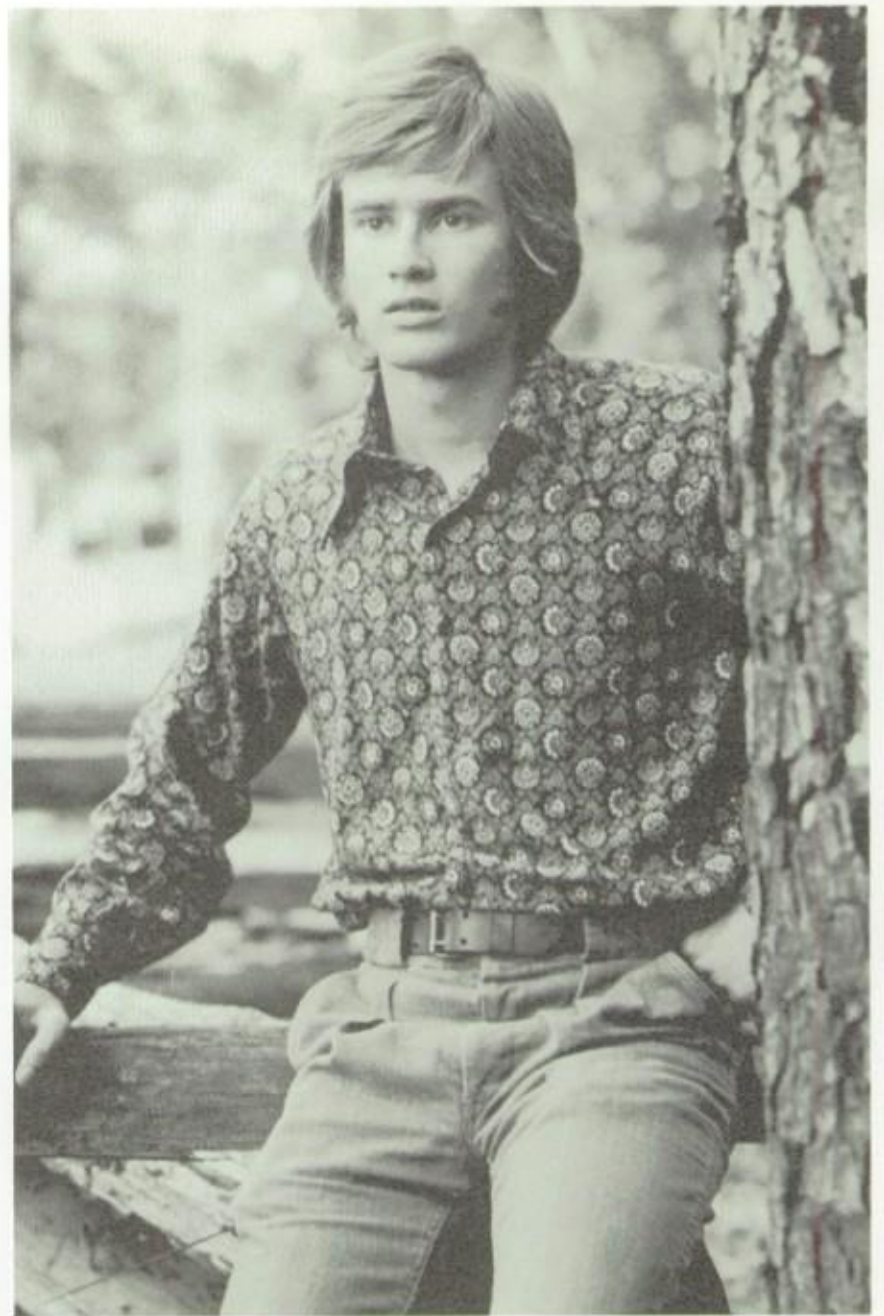

Seniors Peri Bell, Barry Cannada, Lucy Folk, and Sylvia Foster are cited for service to school and community.

ORGANIZATIONS

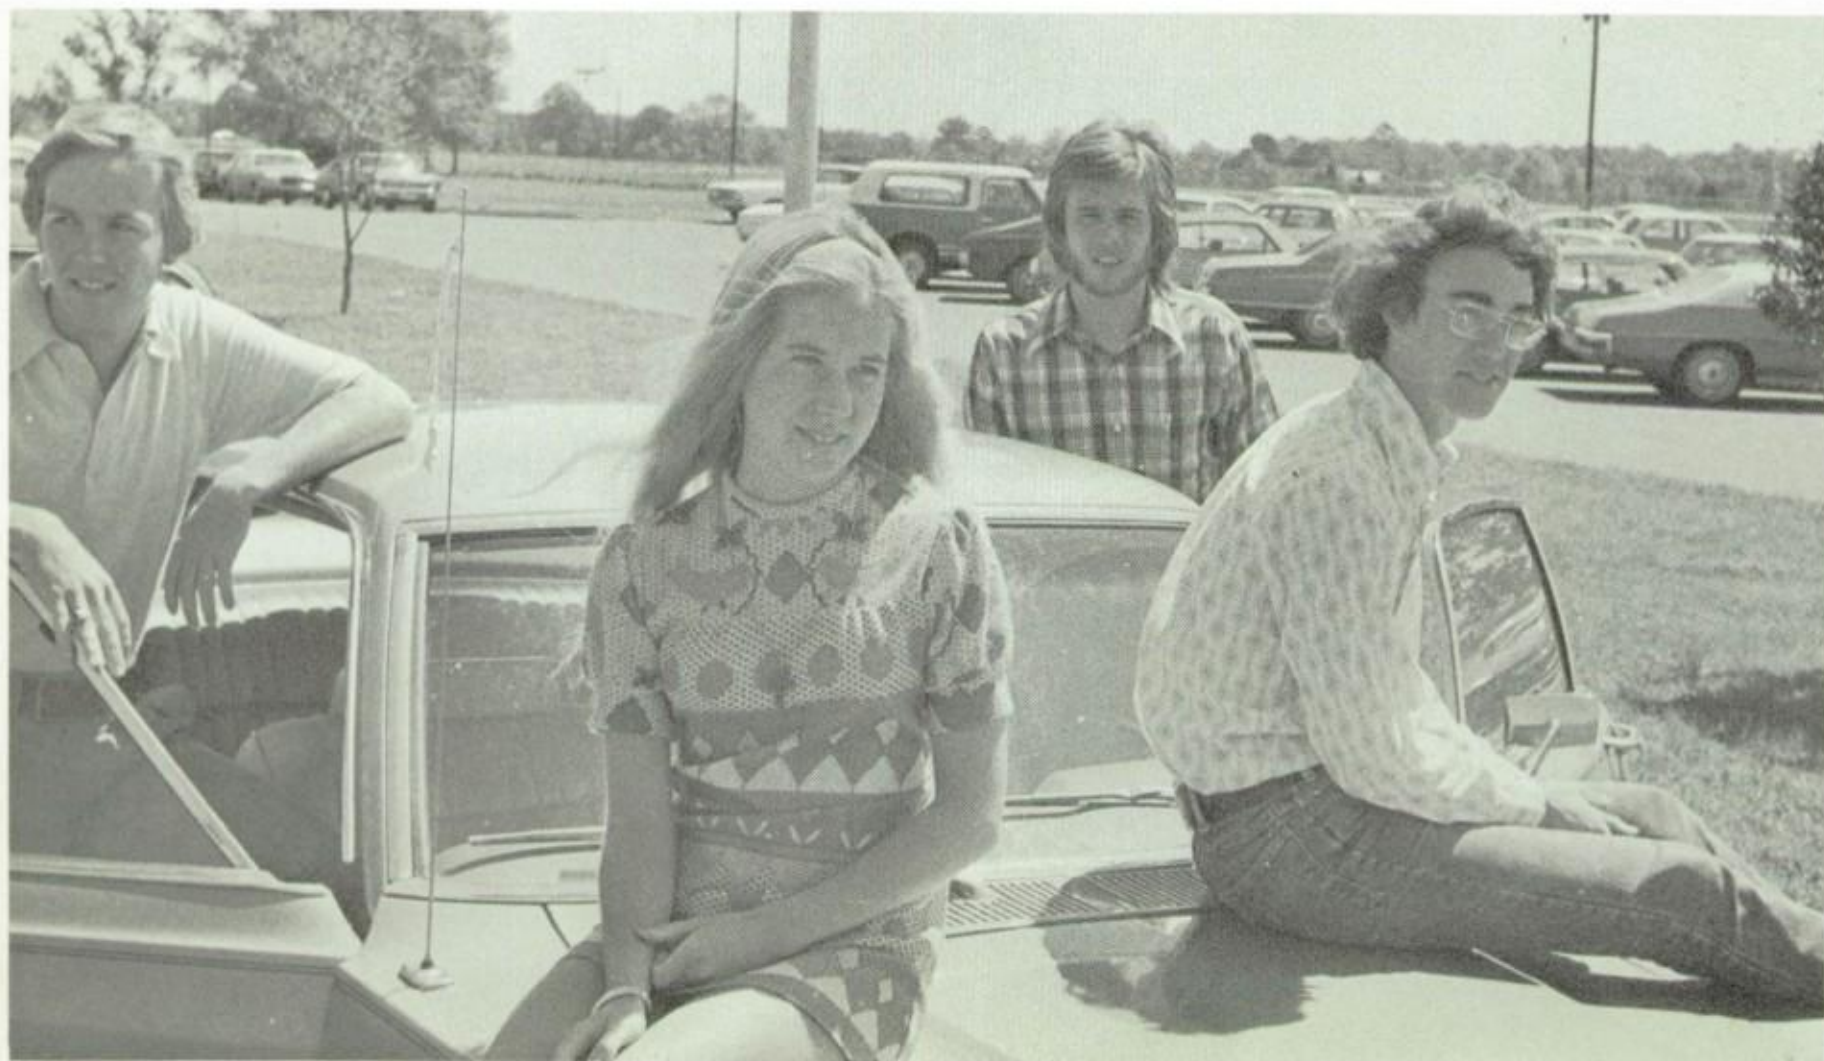

Student Council Serves School

Under John Dunbar's administration, the Prep student council accomplished myriad feats previous councils had found impossible. The council took part again this year in the Toys for Tots drive by sponsoring a faculty-student basketball game and initiated a new program by doing extensive work at Christmas with the patients committed to Whitfield. Members attended both the public and private high school student council conventions this year and gained much insight from these two occasions. If this were not enough, they, also, sponsored a very successful homecoming program and earnestly tried to promote a clean cafeteria.

Mary Frances McLarty, Lucy Burwell, and Mary Schwahn listen attentively to a new found friend following a discussion period at the state student council convention at Murrah.

Student body Vice president, David Allen, Secretary, Elizabeth Bass, President John Dunbar, and Parliamentarian, Ken Graves enjoy the spring weather.

J.C.L. Promotes Interest in Ancients

Bored with his translation, Johnny Sparrow begins to think of typical "Bird"—brain ideas. Margaret Williams appears faintly ill when she notices what he has written down.

The Junior Classical League, sponsored by Mrs. W. D. Mann and Mrs. Norton McKeigney, is an organization dedicated to passing on the torch of classical learning to future generations. Activities during the year included a Roman banquet and slave auction. Members of the JCL also participated in the State convention and won second place overall in the contests.

After brief contemplation, Bird (Johnny Sparrow) presents his "idea" to Cher (Nancy Crowell).

Sonny (Mike Warwick) gallantly defends his Cher when he discovers what has been proposed as Vala Mala (Mrs. Mann) votes against Bird.

Annual Staff Attempts to Conquer Problems

The Precis staff acquired innovations this year, including Mrs. Sandra Strom, the new sponsor. The selection of the staff was carefully made from written applications. Thus, only the best workers were selected. The staff members were prepared for their tasks at a summer workshop on the Gulf Coast and at a one-day clinic at Primos Northgate. The year was full of work and deadlines, and troublesome photographers, but somehow all was completed . . . SOMEHOW!

The Junior High section consists of; from top, Susan Tsimortos, Karen Nolan, Lee Patterson, Betty Griffin, and Carol Coursey.

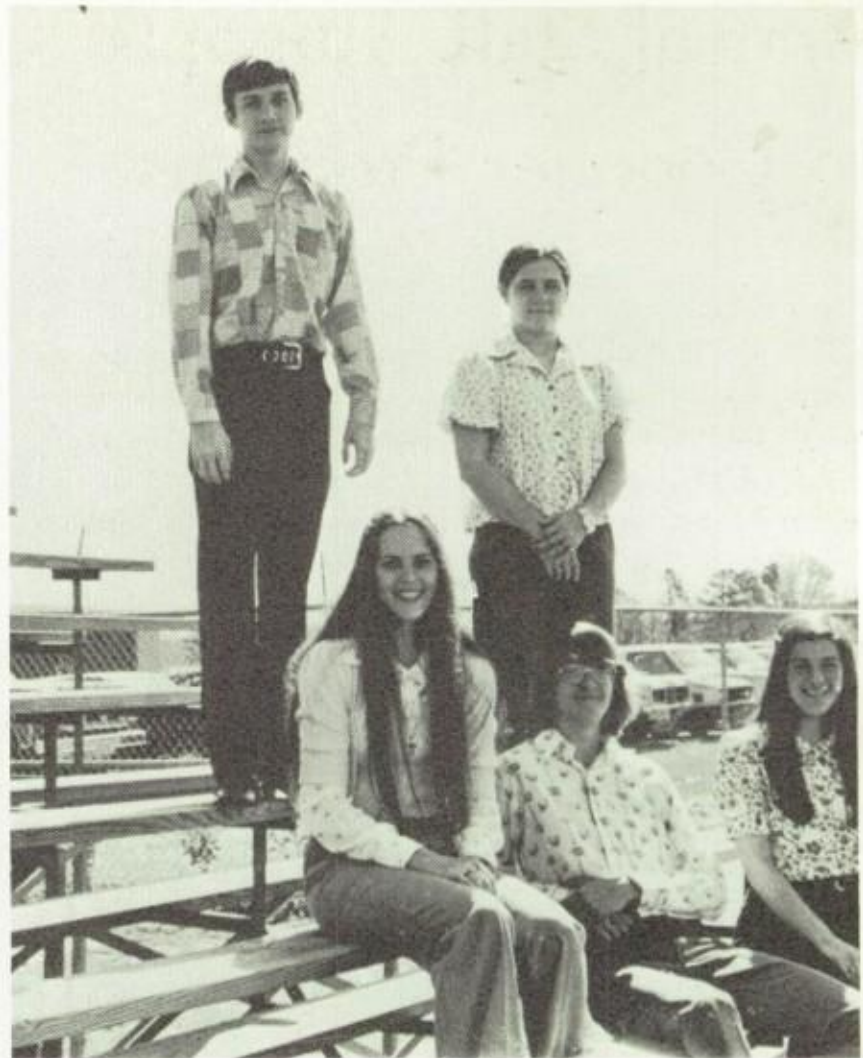

The Sports staff, John Geary and Randolph Wood, support their giant grease pencil.

Kathy Felder, Jerry Gilbert, business manager, Mike Robertson, and Doug Guyton constitute the Student Life and Academics and Faculty sections of the annual.

Organizations staff members are Mike Cutrer, Nancy Crowell, Kay Holloway, Mark Stanton, and Rose Mary Weiner.

Few Working as Many

"Fearless" editor Margaret Williams finds one unhurried moment to relax.

Annual photographers for 1973 are: Morris Alexander, Bill Bradley, Gary Boyette, Bryant Miller, Mark Simon, Fred Richards, and (sitting) Billy Wallace.

Sentry Presents Pertinent Features

Ads and deadlines, always a threat to any school publication's existence, proved to be no match for the prepared and industrious Sentry staff members. Although fewer editions were turned out this year than in the past, the quality was quite impressive. Regular features, such as the "Palantir" and Letters to the Editor served to broaden interest in student affairs.

The Sentry again sponsored "Who's Who," recognizing the top seniors in various fields and again this action was well received. Many staffers of the 1973 paper attended the National Schoastic Press Conference in Chicago over Thanksgiving.

Mark Stanton adds the finishing touches to the "Palantir."

Lacking anywhere else to sit, Joe Cameron reclines on the laps of Nancy Crowell, Betsy Goldman, and Ellen Kirby.

Eloise Bond, Tom Ireland, and Ann Brock take a brief rest from the vigors of writing.

Sandra Roberts, Suzelle Weems, Lucy Folk, and Karen Nolan research material for the next issue.

Photographers Gary Boyette, Billy Wallace, Bill Bradley, Bryant Miller, and Amy Marks were invaluable aides.

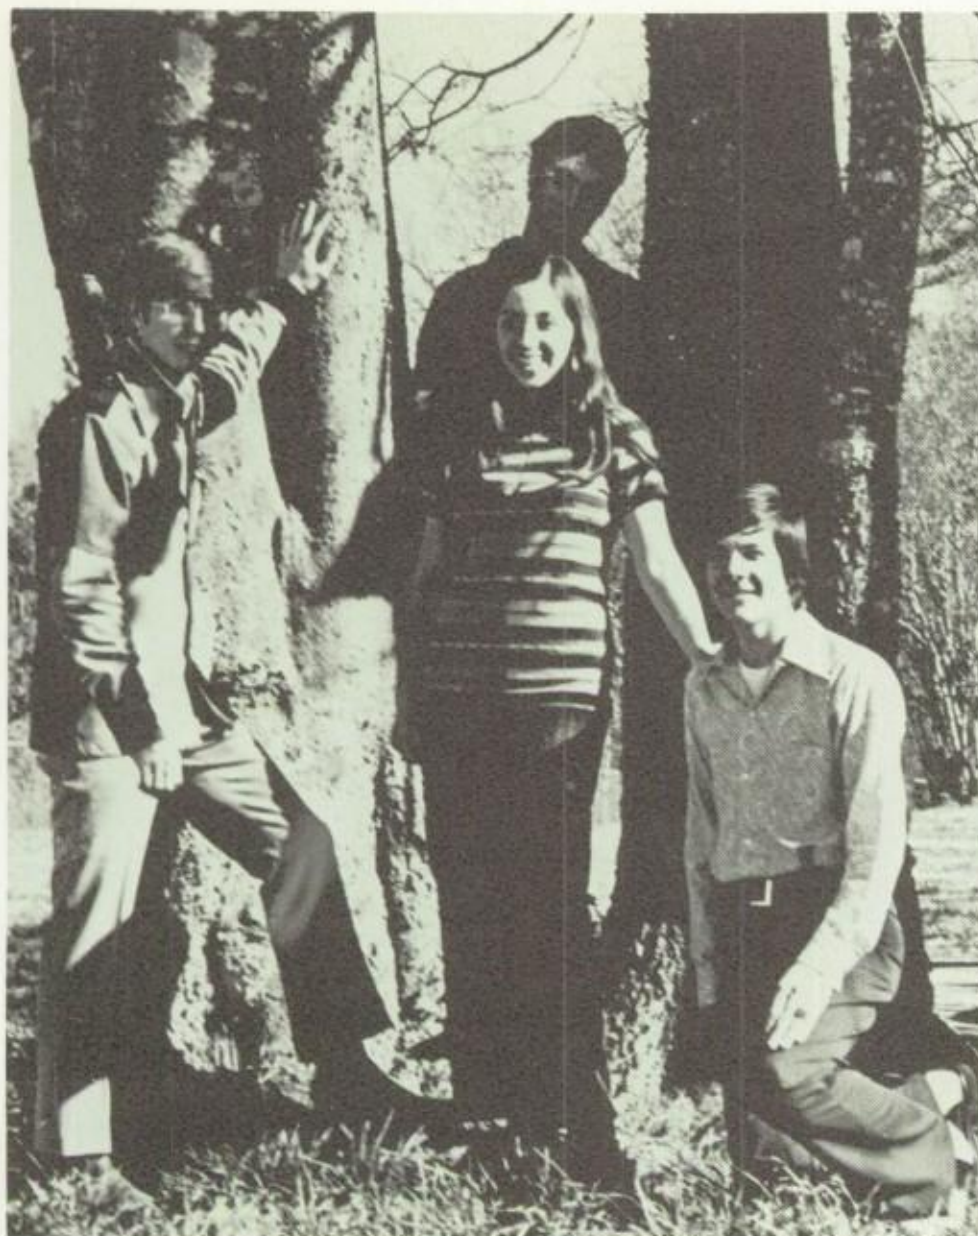

Nancy Crowell, Betty Griffin, Lisa Graham, Suzanne Little, Lucia Jones, Lucy Folk, Vaughn McRae and Ann Woodliff takes a short break on the senior patio.

Earthwinds Struggles for Survival

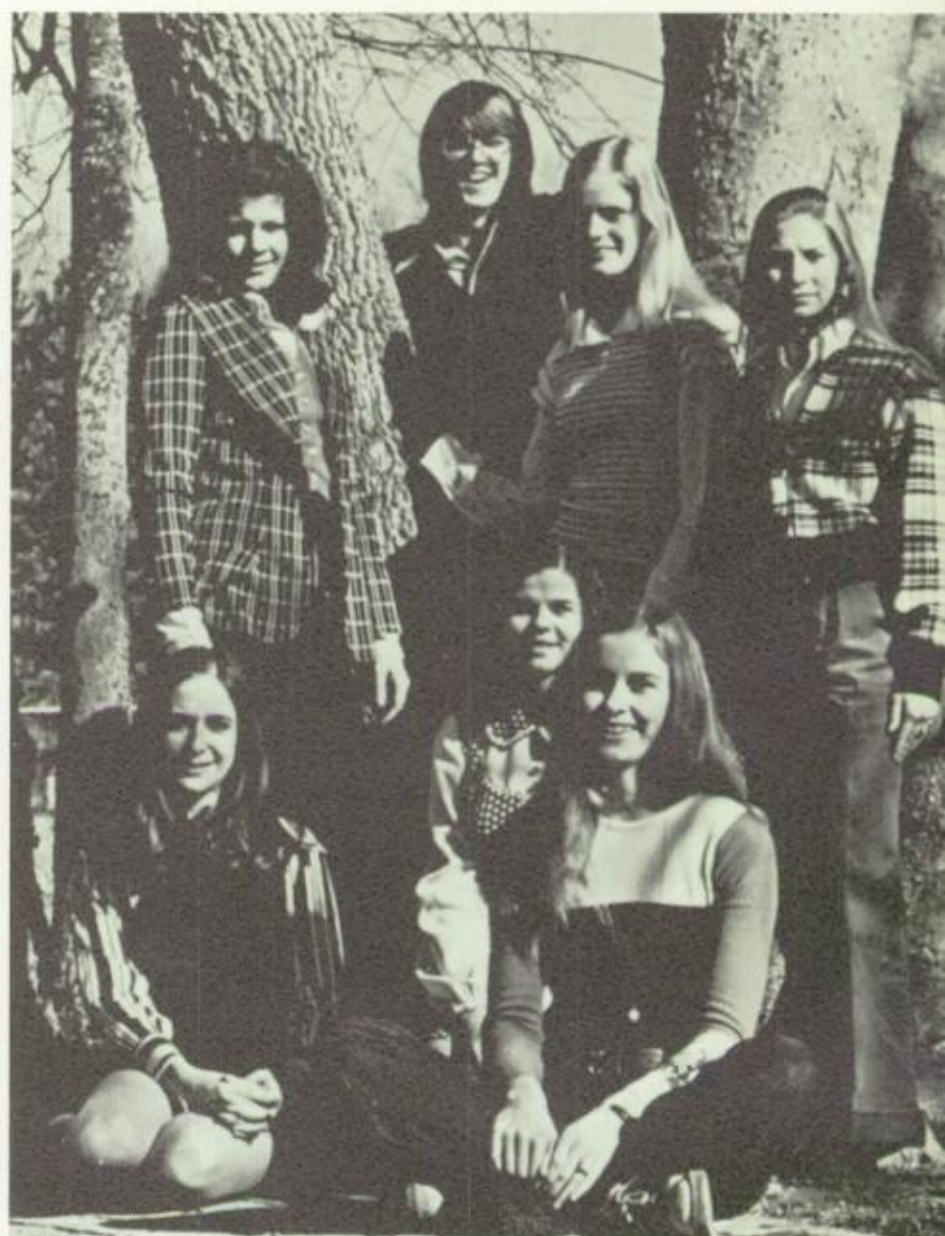

This year, the staff of the literary magazine was faced with two formidable tasks: to arouse the interest of the student body and to meet the costs of publication. But like all truly good stories, this one has a happy ending. Through much coaxing (in the form of campaigning, advertising, and downright smooth talking) enough subscriptions were sold.

With the aid of bake sales, tasting parties, and a play, the necessary balance in funds was raised. As always, the sponsor, Mrs. Kneeland was there when needed. Her presence provided inspiration and helpful suggestions to keep things moving. The unique and sometimes mysterious humor of such staffers as Frances Lavelle, enabled her to don a worm costume and shout—"Buy your Earthworms!!!"

Humor editor Tom Ireland, short story editor Doug Guyton art editor Vickie Pavlou, and business manager Bill Cook strike a calm pose under the senior tree (not pictured: poetry editor Wende Martin and essay editor Frances Lavelle).

Assistant Editor Lynn Varnado, Editor June Woodbridge and sponsor Nancy Kneeland review new advertising punches for the magazine.

Mu Alpha Thetans . . .

Mu Alpha Theta, the mathematics honor club, accomplished much this past year. Twenty-six new members were added, bringing the total membership to fifty-two. Under the watchful eye of a new sponsor, Mrs. Janie Smith, the club made field trips to both the Data Processing Center in Jackson and the Computer Science Department at Southern. The new computer terminal, the National Math Test, and the "Brain Teaser" in the Sentry were initiated to boost interest in math fields. Tradition was continued by holding the initiation banquet at La Bourguignon in the fall. The year 1973 was very satisfying and successful due to the work of the sponsor and officers.

National Honor Society Active

The National Honor Society, a club composed of students with a 3.5 grade average, opened its year with a banquet luncheon held at the Colonial Country Club for the initiation of new members and installation of officers. Such interesting speakers as Mr. Calvin Wells, Reverend Brian Harbour, Reverend Keith Tonkel, and Mr. Robert Wagner provided programs at their meetings. Throughout the year, the National Honor Society helped others by presenting Christmas gifts to the patients at Whitfield, making visits to the Community Hospital, and providing parties at Whitfield. The highlight of the year was a week-end in Atlanta, with visits to both underground Atlanta and Six Flags.

Inter-Act Reacts

The Inter-Act club was a new organization formed this year under sponsorship of the Rotary Club of North Jackson. Faculty sponsors Mr. John Ballard and Mr. Larry Simmons guided the group in their several community service projects, such as a used car upon which students could vent their frustrations. School spirit was also bolstered during pep rallies by their enthusiastic cries.

Growth in size and importance is anticipated for forthcoming years. Although some rivalry may crop up with the Key Club, both organizations will strive to serve Jackson Prep to the utmost levels.

Retired Athletes Form Alliance

The Royal Order of Retired Athletes is another first for Jackson Prep. This new club is small, but constitutes a powerhouse of dedicated Senior men; men dedicated to fun and fellowship. Qualifications in this group required only retirement from a school sport. This fun-loving group of men worked for the betterment of the sense of humor around Prep.

Founders of the Retired Athletes include: David Allen, head man; Joe Cameron, Chief of Operations; Mark Frazier, co-capt.; Tom Ireland, Exec. Director; Ed Manning, Chairman of the Board; and Mike Robertson, Vice President.

Key Club Improves and Innovates, Services Increased

The Key Club of Jackson Prep has had a banner year under the able leadership of its Board of Directors, headed by president, David Allen, and sponsor Joe Anderson. The Key Club's objective: to provide experience in living and working together while serving the school and community was faithfully accomplished this year. Some of the many services the Key Club has rendered have been: planting trees on the Prep campus, renting stadium chairs for athletic events, decorating the school's Christmas tree, lending a hand to the Student Council's "Toys for Tots" drive, selling suckers for the Heart Fund, selling Prep bumper stickers, and cleaning up after homecoming. The Key Club is not ALL work, for members have fun, also. For example, six sweethearts attend meetings with the boys and help to ease the "burden" of membership. The club attended rallies, conventions, and banquets this year. The most popular, however, was the Kiwanis Club's luncheons held every Tuesday. The Key Club won again on the third annual Key Club vs. Kiwanis softball game. The district convention was the highlight of the year, being held for an entire weekend in New Orleans. The Key Club has in the past and will probably continue to be one of the most active of Prep's clubs.

Sponsor Joe Anderson supervises the Board of Directors: Secretary, Tom Ireland, Soph. Rep., Billy Mounger, Treasurer, Ed Manning, Jr. Rep., Bill Stone, Sr. Rep., Mark Frazier, President, David Allen, and Vice president, Lowery King.

Singers Unite with Harmony

The Jackson Prep Singers is the sixty voice performing choir of Jackson Preparatory School. Membership in the Singers is by audition. Members are selected each spring for the following year. Their varied repertoire includes music from all periods of music history. Performances are given throughout the year for music clubs, luncheon clubs, schools, etc., in addition to several performances presented for the student body. The year is climaxed by participation in the State Choral Festival, followed by a spring concert.

Accompanist for the Choir is Melanie Roach along with her assistants, Mary Alicia Cain and Dianne Pittman.

The PREPARATION, a small vocal group chosen from the Singers, includes twelve singers, a drummer, and an accompanist. Members are selected by audition and must adhere to a strict performance and rehearsal schedule. They provide entertainment for clubs, schools, banquets, etc., in and around the Jackson area.

This year the PREPARATION was invited to perform for the 1973 Mississippi Arts Festival without an audition. The group is under the direction of Mrs. Lillian Lee with Mrs. Judy McKeigney and Pam Lehan as choreographers.

The PREPARATION, in concert!!!

Fervently wishing for snow, most of the Speech and Debate Society huddles together with their coats and cloaks. From left, they are: Mark Simon, Lee Howell, Bill Cook, Joel Alvis, a head identified as Tom Ireland, Chairman Ken Graves, June Woodbridge, Kathy Felder in back, Jamie Becker in front, the wizard Gandalf who is sometimes known as Randolph Wood, Mike Cutrer, Mark Stanton, and Susan Tsimortos. Head Coach, Mrs. Mary Anne Bowen, and Mr. Joe T. Anderson, chauffeur and coach, attempt to remain anonymous.

At an emergency meeting, Chairman Ken Graves jokes with Pam Lehan while ignoring the dilatory, but important, questions raised by both Mr. Ireland and Mr. Alvis. Mary Schwahn, second from right, impatiently waits for a serious moment.

Forensics Activities and Programs Abound

Mary Schwahn sings the blues of living in the past as Jamie Becker prays for a bumper crop of trophies in 1974 to match the collection gathered in 1972 after a mediocre haul this year.

The forensics program developed greatly with the partial implementation of a debate class. Through this class, an excellent pool of individual speakers became available from which to draw tournament contestants. This in turn enabled the team to compete actively with the better teams of the South. It also provided the best source of fame and glory. But individual oratory was not the only form of competition. A promising measure of success was shown in debating the aspects of federally financed school education. The Speech and Debate Society allowed many students to enter the world of advanced speech in some degree. Delegates were sent to the Mississippi Youth Congress, where Jamie Becker won a superior for debate from the floor. The SDS also sponsored a spring picnic for all members to celebrate the end of a moderately successful year.

Laughter overtakes Joel Alvis as Mike McDonald displays his unusual loquaciousness to make a point about the disadvantages of sixth-period classes.

John Geary previews Mary Schwann's oral interpretation of a cutting from "White Cliffs of Dover" before Mrs. Bowen begins rearranging the parts.

Pacers Set the Pace In Spirit

Attention!! You'd better believe it, and that's what the Prep Pacers caught when the officers Kaky Hardy, captain and Peri Bell and Lisa Welsh, co-captains led the twenty-seven Pacers into formation for their welcoming audiences. The Pacers were selected on the basis of general appearance, poise, marching ability, academic standing and performance. Many hours of diligent work was put into coordinating the precision drill team's routines. The outfits of navy blue skirts, red fitted jackets with white ruffled shirts, white boots and gloves and the Uncle Sam top hat of the usual stars and stripes added much Patriotic color and spirit to the halftime performances throughout the football season. The Pacers participated in the first annual Deep South Auxiliary Corps Championship and paced out with a trophy! Pacers also marched in the Jackson Christmas parade.

Cheerleaders—Spirit Sparkers

Being a cheerleader, not only means being super-co-ordinated, and happy all the time but you must also be a professional in everything from sign-painting to cooking dinner for the guest cheerleaders. This year ten girls were selected by the Prep student body to serve as cheerleaders for 1972-73. They include: Seniors Kay Hutton, head cheerleader, Mary Allen, Libbie Apostle, Anne Mitchell, Virginia Phillips; Juniors Elizabeth Bass, Gayle Drake, Darrah Turner; and Sophomores Mary Frances McLarty and Kelley Walton. Eligibility for cheerleader demands the maintenance of a C average throughout the year. Daily practice began immediately after election in the spring and continued through the summer. July 30, the Prep cheerleaders attended the Mid-South Cheerleader Institute at Ole Miss. This week, which climaxed weeks of hard work, was sponsored by the National Cheerleaders Association. During their week at clinic, the girls learned new cheers, pom-pom routines and tumbling, attended lectures and competed daily with groups from over nine states. During the season the cheerleaders spend many afternoons painting signs, making pin-ons, writing happies, and practicing for upcoming pep rallies.

History Enthusiasts Initiate Society

Another educational organization was founded at Prep this year. The Junior Historical Society was begun so that interested students could learn more about Mississippi's history and heritage. Under the guidance of their sponsor, Mr. Ronnie Marble, and with the cooperation of President Pam Lehan, Vice-President Denise Owens, and Secretary-Treasurer Sally Williford, the group successfully journeyed to the Natchez Pilgrimage.

Patriot Band, Flag, and Rifle Corps

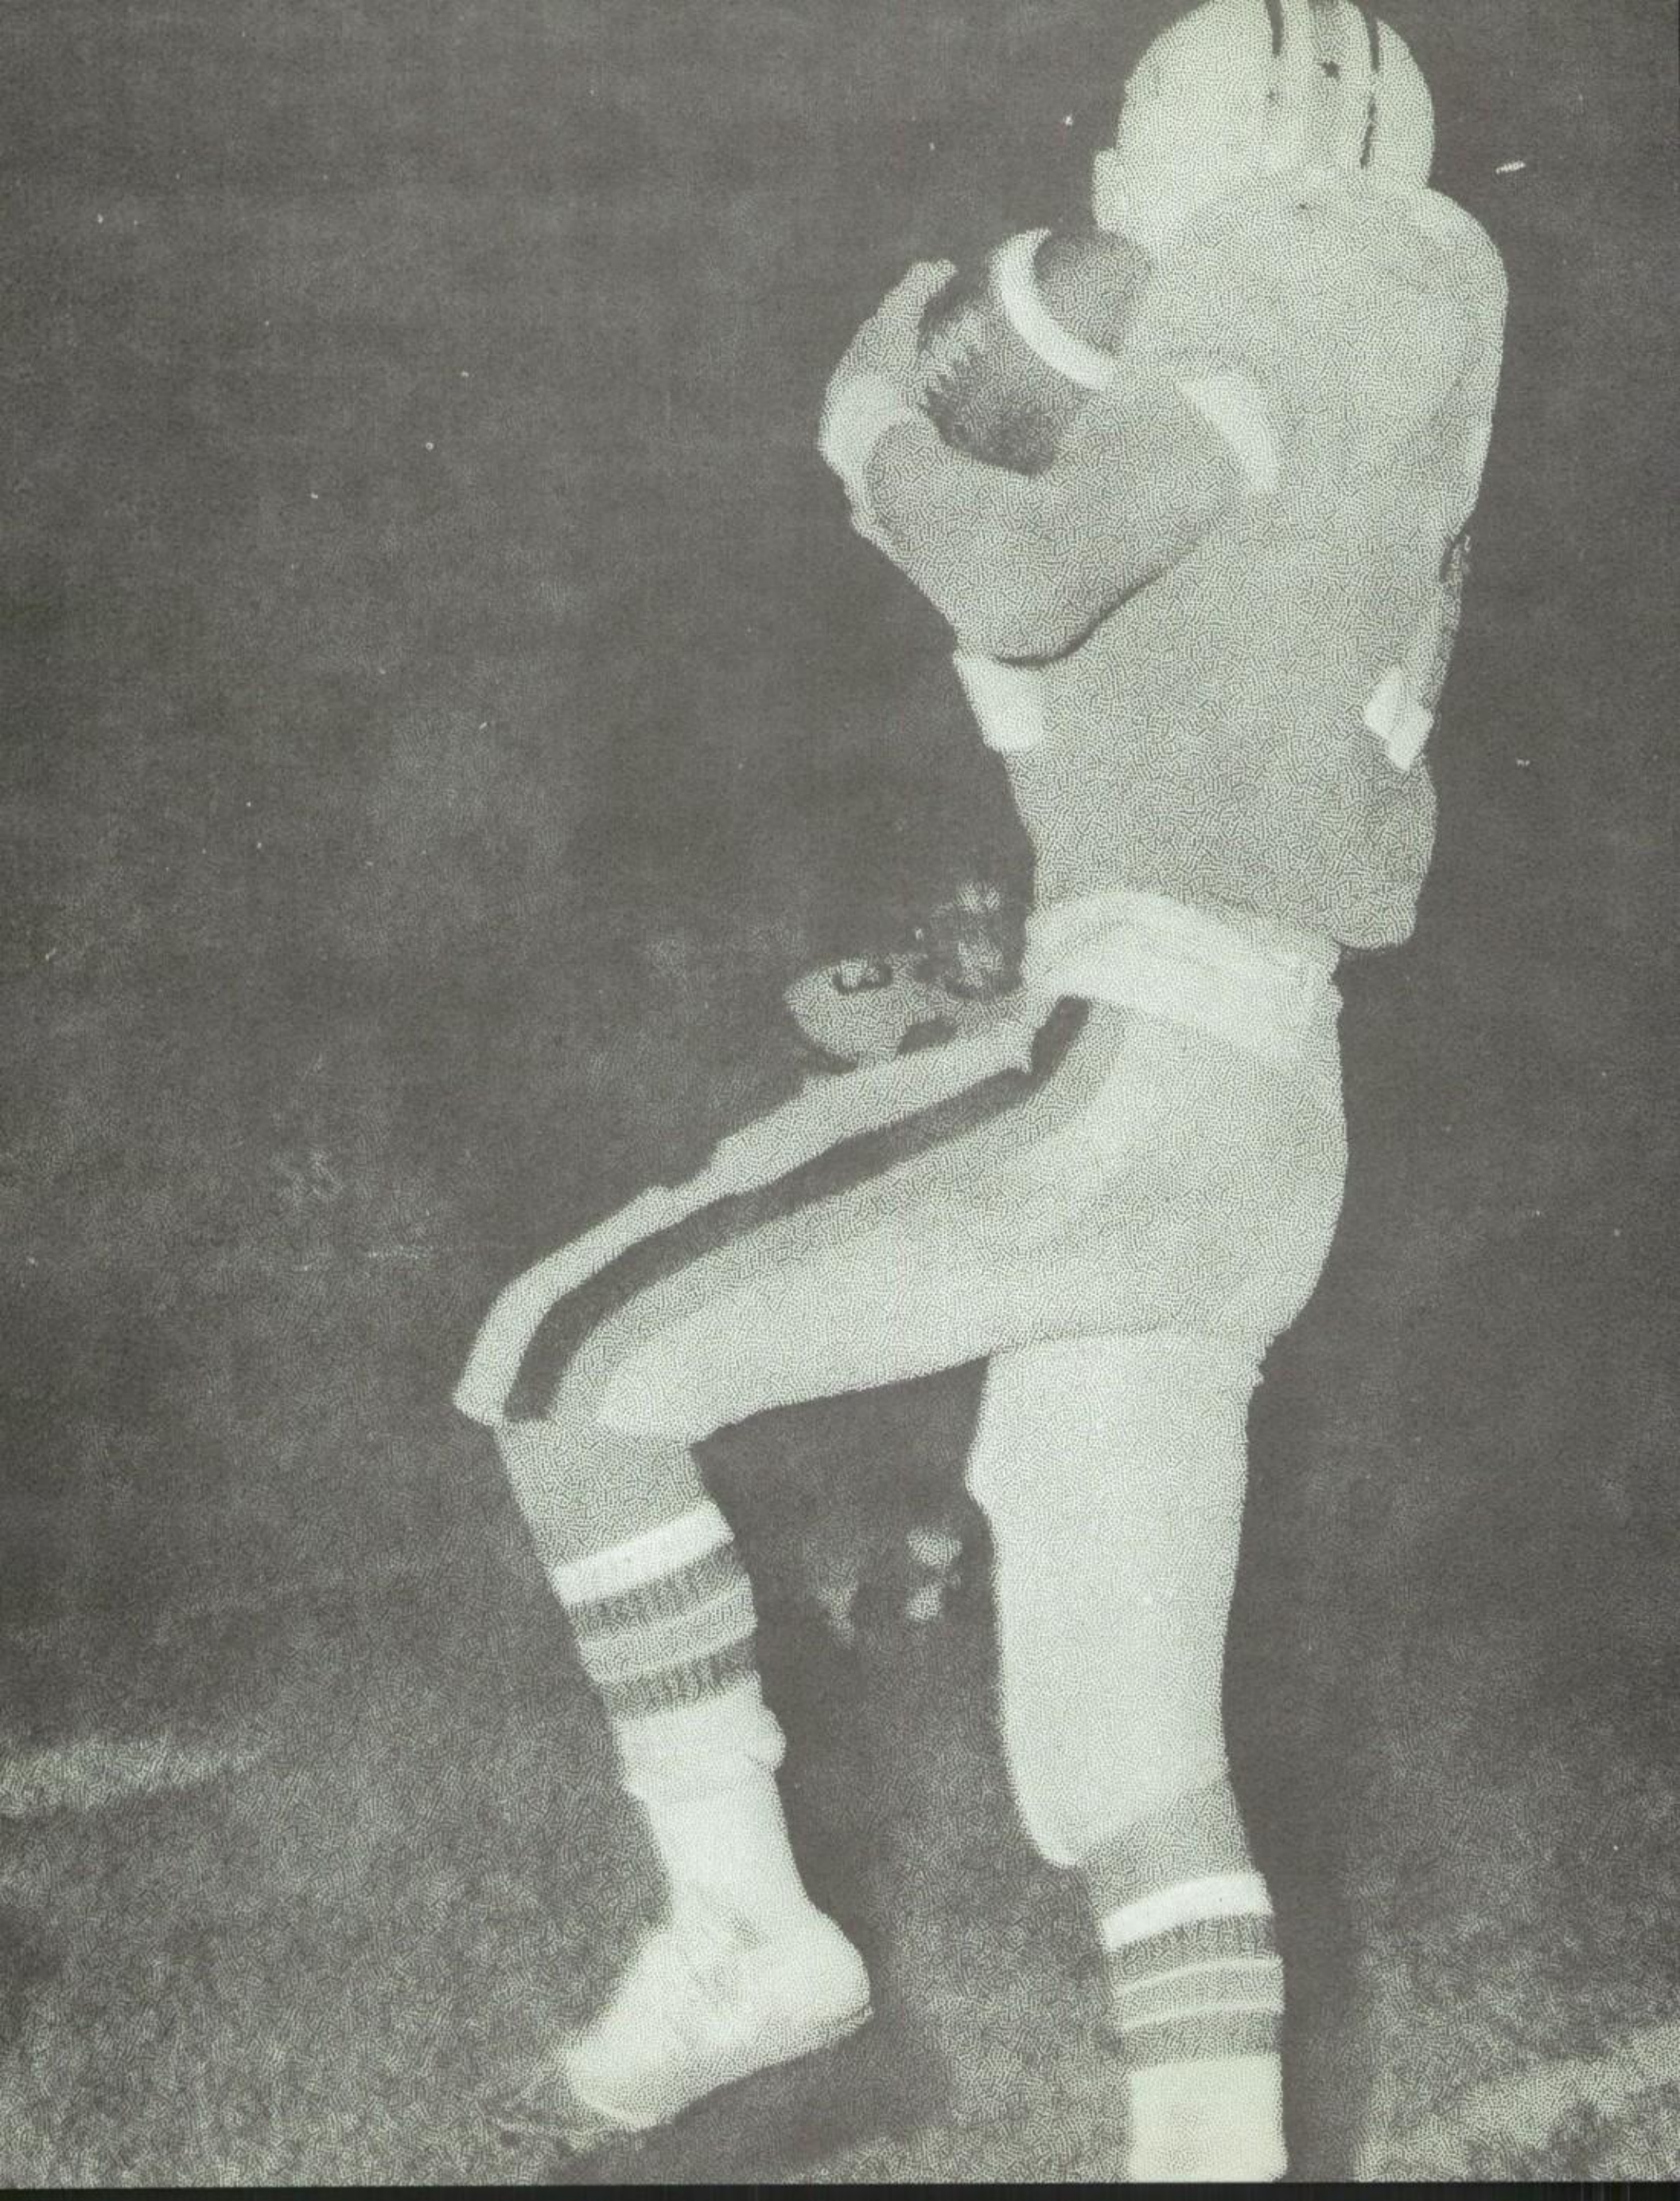

Band Marches Triumphant

Success came in many forms this year as Mr. Alex Cauthen directed and coached the Patriot band. First, as a marching unit, the band united with both the Flag and the Rifle Corps to provide interesting and entertaining half-time shows at all football games. The Flag girls added color to the band's music while the Rifle Corps executed precision rifle twirls, spins, and tosses.

Off the field, as an ambassador from Prep, the band performed in parades and contests. This year, the band marched in the Jackson Christmas Parade and ranked high among participants in the Greenwood Delta Band Festival.

As a concert ensemble, the band performed challenging and rewarding music from the Wind Ensemble repertoire. This represents the ultimate in individual and group discipline.

For the Jackson Prep Patriots the 1972 football season was both rewarding and disappointing. It was highlighted by overwhelming victories and lowlighted by a tie and a defeat. The Patriots were 9-1-1 for the season, including a victory in the AAA Academy conference Championship game against Indianola. McCleur handed the Red and Blue a tie, and the Riverside Rebels stunned Prep with its first defeat in twenty games.

Prep's strong running attack was led by junior fullback Jimmy Etheridge and senior tailback Bobby Sanders. Powerful blocking was provided by Prep's outstanding offensive line with Dav Mosby, Talby Bevill, Jeff Burnham, Jody Reppeto, Paul Markow, and Jeff Glover leading the way. Jimmy Etheridge was the Patriots' leading scorer with twelve touchdowns; Bobby Sanders was close behind with ten. The passing attack was led by senior quarterback Mike Carlisle. Carlisle's strong arm was usually throwing the ball in the direction of Mike Drake. By the end of the season, Drake had pulled in ten passes for TD's.

To be a champion, a team must not only have a powerful offense, but must possess a defense which doesn't easily give up yardage. The Patriot defense held opposing offenses to an average of under eight points a game, shutting out four opponents in the process. It gave the offense the football enough for it to average almost 32 points a game. Running on the patriots was no easy matter with John Speetjens, Rob Burgeis, Barry Cannada, Frank McCreight, and Mike Harrison on the line, and Jody Reppeto, John McVey, and Jeff Glover as line backers. The Patriots' pass defense was tough, too. Les Kimbrough, Tucker Walsh, David Campbell, and Clint Ivey provided most of the coverage.

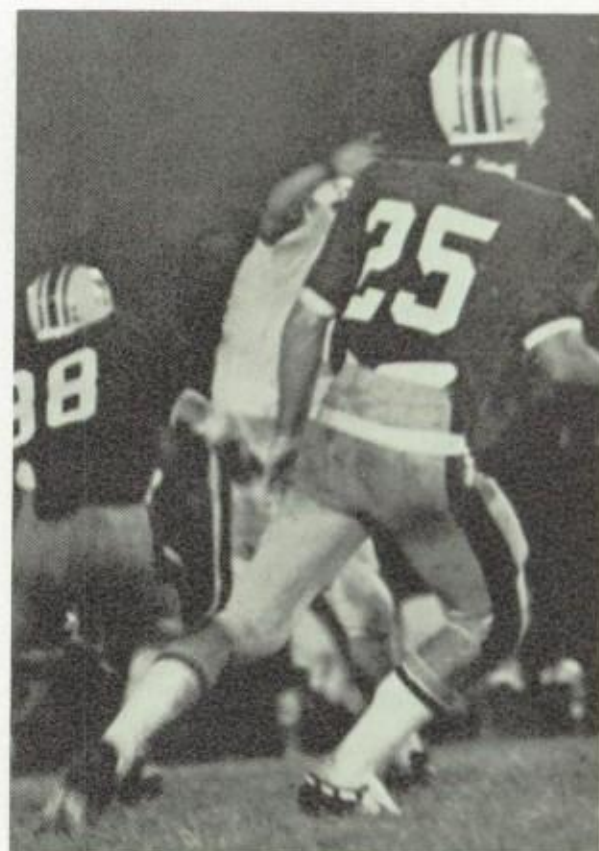

All in all, good with bad, triumph with despair, it was a good year for the Patriots. The long, grueling hours of practice seemed to pay off as the AAA Championship trophy was put into the display case at Jackson Prep for the second straight year.

Patriots Defeat Rosemark and Copiah

The Patriots opened the 1972 football season with an over-whelming slaughter of Rosemark Academy. In a fine display of offensive power, the Patriots stung the Rebels by a score of 72-0. Tucker Walsh, Mike Drake, and Bobby Sanders all scored twice. Jimmy Etheridge, Mark Clark, John McVey, and Skip Daniels crossed the goal line one time.

The second game of the season was expected to be one of the most difficult. The Patriots were on the road for the first time of the season, to play the powerful Copiah Academy Colonels. The Patriots came through like real winners. Prep's defense shut out a strong Copiah offense. Jimmy Etheridge scored twice, and Tucker Walsh and Mike Carlisle scored once each to give the Patriots a 27-0 victory.

The next week saw the Patriots playing the Canton Academy Panthers. Again, the Patriots came through in shining form for win number three. Jimmy Etheridge scored twice. Jeff Glover, Bobby Sanders and Mike Carlisle scored once. Mike Carlisle also kicked a 25 yard field goal to hand the Panthers a 38-12 defeat.

The fourth game of the season found the Patriots playing the Greenville Christian Academy Saints. The game turned into a field day for Bobby Sanders. He scored 18 points and set a new single game rushing record for Prep with 252 yards in only 12 carries. Mike Carlisle hit Mike Drake for another TD, and Prep handed Greenville a 28-0 defeat. It was the third shutout for the defense.

The next week the Patriots were on the road again, this time to Clarksdale Lee. Prep looked strong; winning 28-7. Mark Bowen found the end zone twice. Jimmy Etheridge scored once, as did Mike Drake.

McCleur Stuns Prep with Tie

The Sam Barthe Hornets from New Orleans were next on Prep's football agenda. The Patriots easily brought home the sixth victory of the season by defeating the Hornets 47-7. Jimmy Etheridge scored three times to lead the Patriots to their 16th consecutive win. Mike Carlisle hit both Mike Drake and Mark Bowen with passes of 31 and 25 yards, respectively, for two other Prep touchdowns. Bowen also scored on a 62 yard interception return. Bobby Sanders scored from one yard out for the other touchdown.

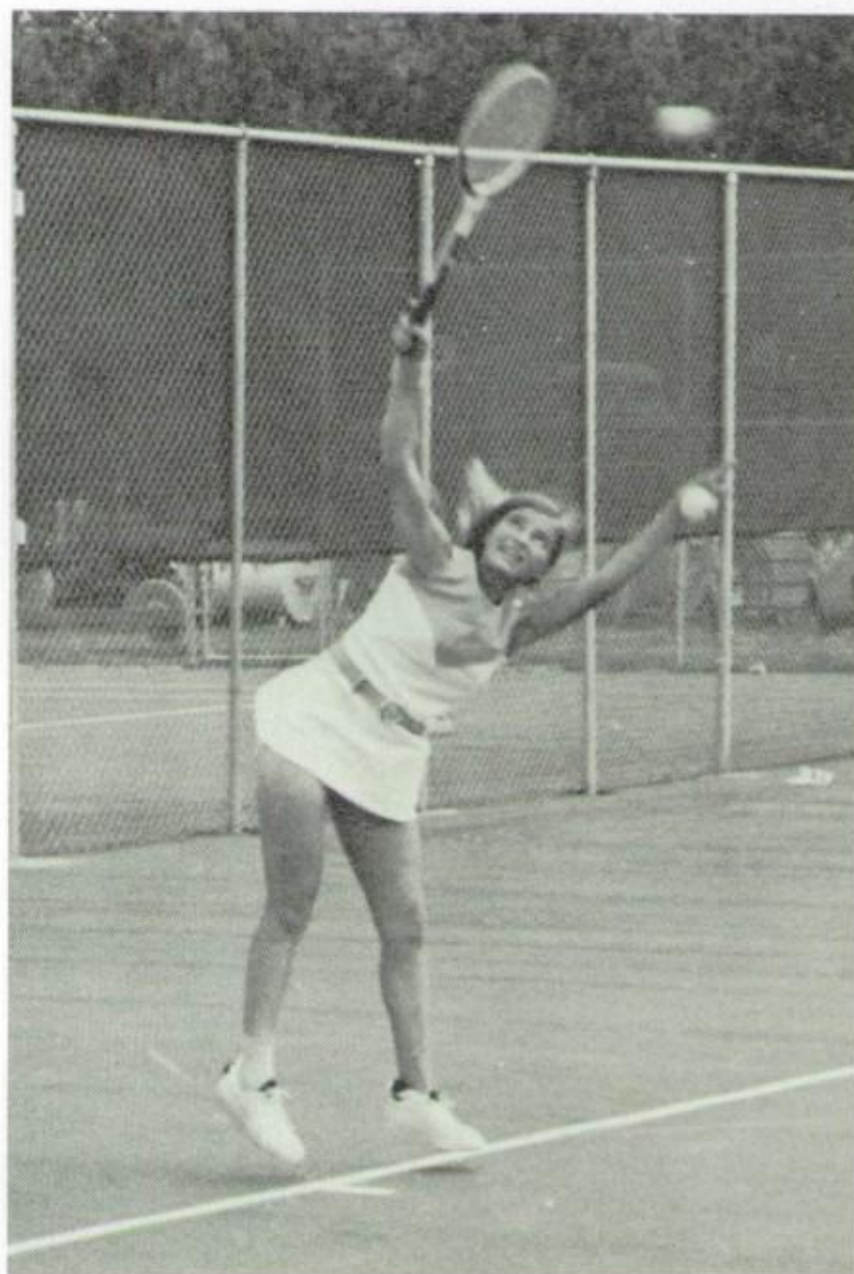

The following game was one of the low points of the Prep football season. The Patriots went to Council McCleur to play the McCleur Eagles. The Eagles were sky high for the game, ready to revenge last year's lost to Prep. The game was as exciting a game as could be seen anywhere, ending in a 20-20 tie. Jimmy Etheridge scored in the first half to tie the game 7-7. In the second half, the Patriots scored to take the lead. Mike Carlisle hit Mike Drake from six yards out, but the extra point attempt was wide. McCleur then scored and kicked a PAT for a 14-13 lead. The Patriots were determined as Carlisle hurled a long bomb of 63 yards to Mike Drake for a 20-14 lead. But the Eagles weren't through either. They scored to tie the game 20-20, but missed the PAT.

Tennis Team Dominating

The Jackson Prep tennis team dominated Academy Conference tennis in Mississippi, Alabama, and Louisiana. For the third year in a row, the Patriots were undefeated in Academy Conference play. Boasting several nationally ranked players, the Patriots swept both the AAA championship tournament and a tri-state tournament with the winners and runners-up from Alabama, Mississippi, and Louisiana competing. Prep netters took first place in every division. Earl Hassler won the boys' singles division. Tommy Skelton and Bruce Bollman won the boys doubles competition. Lulu LeMaster took the girls' singles division while Wyeth Peets and Janet Shands placed first in girls' doubles. In 1973 more than ever, the tennis team showed the excellence associated with Jackson Prep.

Prep Defeats Greenwood and Manhattan but Loses Homecoming to Riverside

The next week the Patriots traveled to Greenwood to play Pillow Academy. Still stinging from the tie the previous week, Prep went into the game looking for a win. We got it, too, beating Pillow by a score of 14-0. It was the fourth shut out of the season for the Patriot defense. Bobby Sanders scored both touchdowns, one from one yard out and the other from four.

The next to last game of the season was against arch-rival Council Manhattan. The Patriots overpowered the Lancers 48-7. Mike Carlisle had a fine night. He scored with his fleet feet twice, once on a 30 yard scamper, and again from 8 yards out. Jimmy Etheridge scored from one yard out. Bobby Sanders also bulled over from the two yard line. The other Patriot score came on a 38 yard pass to Mike Drake from sophomore back-up quarterback Skip Daniels.

The last regular game of the season was one that the Patriots had wondered about, sometimes worried about, all season long. From down in Cajun Country, the Riverside Rebels came to test their strength against the Patriots'. What resulted was as an exciting a homecoming game as any school could hope for, the only problem being the score. Riverside handed Prep its first defeat in two years. The Patriots had won 20 games without a loss. The final score was 14-7. Prep's one TD came on a 20 yard pass from Carlisle to Drake. Cheering students looked on helplessly as the Patriots failed to score in the final, anxious minutes.

Patriots Bring Home AAA Trophy

The final game of the season was the AAA Academy Conference Championship against the strong Colonels of Indianola. For the second straight year, the Patriots brought the trophy home with a 21-14 victory over North AAA Champions. Mike Carlisle scored twice, once from 2 yards out and once from 4 to give the Patriots a 14-7 lead at halftime. The defense contained Indianola in the second half superbly. Jimmy Etheridge fought his way to pay dirt on a one yard TD carry to insure the win. Etheridge ran for 120 yards, and was awarded the trophy as the Most Valuable Offensive Player. Jody Reppeto was all over the field, showing why he was an All-Conference linebacker. He was awarded the trophy as the game's Most Valuable Defensive Player.

Prep Cagers Bounce to Action With 17-7 Record

Steve Spotts puts one up from the outside.

The basketball team did well this year. Faced with a lack of real height on the team, the Patriots relied on fine ball-handling and outside shooting to beat the taller opponents. The team finished the season with a record of 17-7, the best in Prep's history. This included a pair of wins over Council Manhattan, which gave the Patriots an unofficial city championship. Offensively, the team was led by senior Mike Bracken, who averaged over 20 points a game. Quick and sure-handed Mike Drake controlled the ball and set up the offense. Steve Spotts and Mark Clark added up points from the outside while Owen DeWitt controlled the middle. The Patriots finished second in the South Academy tourney, bowing only to Manhattan. They lost in the semi-finals of the State Academy tournament to Clarksdale Lee.

Prep Thinclads Pull Undeclared Year

In the face of keen competition, the track team excelled again in 1973. Coached by Bud O'Hara, the Patriots were undefeated in eight track meets. Highlights of the season included the Prep Invitational Relays with 67 teams competing, the Academy Conference championship meet, and a tri-state meet with Louisiana and Alabama. The biggest strength of the team in '73 was the relay teams. In the 440 yard relay, 880 relay, mile relay, and sprint medley, Prep was rarely defeated. The relay teams set several new Academy Conference records. In addition, John McVey broke the state high school pole vault record with a vault of 14'1".

A team of younger baseball players face many tough opponents this year. Hard work and practice brought these Patriots up to par, however. With such hurlers as Bobby Sanders, who was subsequently named Most Valuable Player, this group of Patriots ended the season much better than they had begun. The team played best on its home field at Prep but they were, also, at ease at the South AAA Academy Conference tourney. Mike Bracken, with his fine batting average, was named best Patriot hitter and Mike Drake for the second year in a row received the best defensive player award.

Tennis Team Dominating

The Jackson Prep tennis team dominated Academy Conference tennis in Mississippi, Alabama, and Louisiana. For the third year in a row, the Patriots were undefeated in Academy Conference play. Golf Team Tees Superior Season

The Prep Golf team posted a winning record in 1973 for the first time in three years of competitive play. Under the leadership of their coach, David Bass, the Patriots ended the season with a record of nine wins and only two losses.

The highlight of the golf season came with a victory in the statewide AAA Academy conference golf tournament. The Patriots were victorious over twenty-five other Mississippi teams and brought still another fine trophy for Prep's trophy case.

Swimmers in 1973 were: (front) Lynn Loftin, April Guyton, Adrienne Bass, Dede Best, Kirk Morgan, Jimmy Guyton; (middle) Carol Currie, Margaret Anne Johnston, Sara Anderson, Laurie Woodbridge, Stuart Simon, Steve McDavid, Frank Parsons, Ann Hester, Kirk McGeehee, Bill Bush; (back) Peter Hudson, Dick Wofford, Richard Coker, Tom Ireland, June Woodbridge, Doug Guyton, Bryant Miller, Bart DeLashmet, Kevin Stanton, Joanna Bass, Jimmy McKay, and John McDavid.

There was increased interest in swimming at Prep this year. Under the coaching of Miss Beth Bates, the team put in many long hours of hard practice. This practice paid off, however, for Patriot swimmers were outstanding in every meet in which they swam. For the second year in a row, they captured the Academy Conference crown.

CLASSES

Look Out, World!

You've Got A Friend

This year's Seniors have the distinction of being the first graduating class to have completed three years at Prep. After being thrown together in a new school environment, the pace set was unbelievable. They came from behind to pitch in—to participate—to push—to make their school the best ever! Included in their achievements are extended dress codes and Senior privileges, initiation of clubs organization of a Sophomore Dance, and continuation of the traditional Junior-Senior Prom and Senior Christmas Dance. All this was climaxed by the first Senior trip, a cruise to the Bahamas!

Seniors '73 are living proof of what can be accomplished through concentrated work and cooperation. After struggling through term papers, Chaucer projects, and computer programs, they organized many Senior parties—the Christmas Dance, the Fifty's Party, the Costume Party, and the Graduation Dance. By sharing these experiences, the Seniors this year have made many lasting friends who will be included in fond memories of Prep.

Juniors Experience "Them Changes"

With the beginning of a new school year at Prep, the '73 Juniors were ready with school spirit and enthusiasm. Faithfully guided by the Junior sponsors Mrs. Mann and Coach O'Hara, and class president Harry Fyke, many eleventh graders remember the excitement of ordering class rings and raising money for the Junior-Senior Prom by selling flowers on Valentine's Day. Another Junior project, a spring fashion show, featured such entertainers as Otis Reiding, the "fun-loving Supremes," and Grand Funk Railroad. When ends failed to meet, Juniors strove to excellence with frantic, last minute bake sales. Of course, combined with all the fun and games was school work—endless tests, papers, and the like kept Juniors equally involved. The coming of spring brought relief along with anticipation of becoming a Senior Patriot in 1974!

Throughout the year, Juniors have laughed together, cried together, sweated over projects, and strained to finish school work—all mixed with the growing problems of becoming older. The year is through, but Juniors have successfully withstood "Them Changes!"

Supreme Sophomores Soar to New Heights

SOPHOMORE'S 73!!! This group of Sophs came on just as strong as their name suggested. The controversial blue and white jerseys identified the class in all their activities. Jamie Becker, elected president, was ably assisted by the other officers, Billy Mounger, Mike Montgomery, and Baxter Brown. All efforts were united to collect class dues. During 1973 the Sophomore Class Council was created to help guide the sophomores to excellence. Numerous class meetings were held to discuss and design various projects. Mrs. McKeigney and Coach Richardson held reigns on the adventurous group. Much to the surprise of everyone, the Sophomores came in first with their outstanding homecoming float! Participation in Prep sports showed Patriot pride which was supported by the class' spirited pep rallies. Academically, the sophomores excelled in all areas. The class will remember and cherish the memories of an unforgettable year only to perfect and use them in the years ahead.

JUNIOR HIGH

Junior High Challenges a New Year

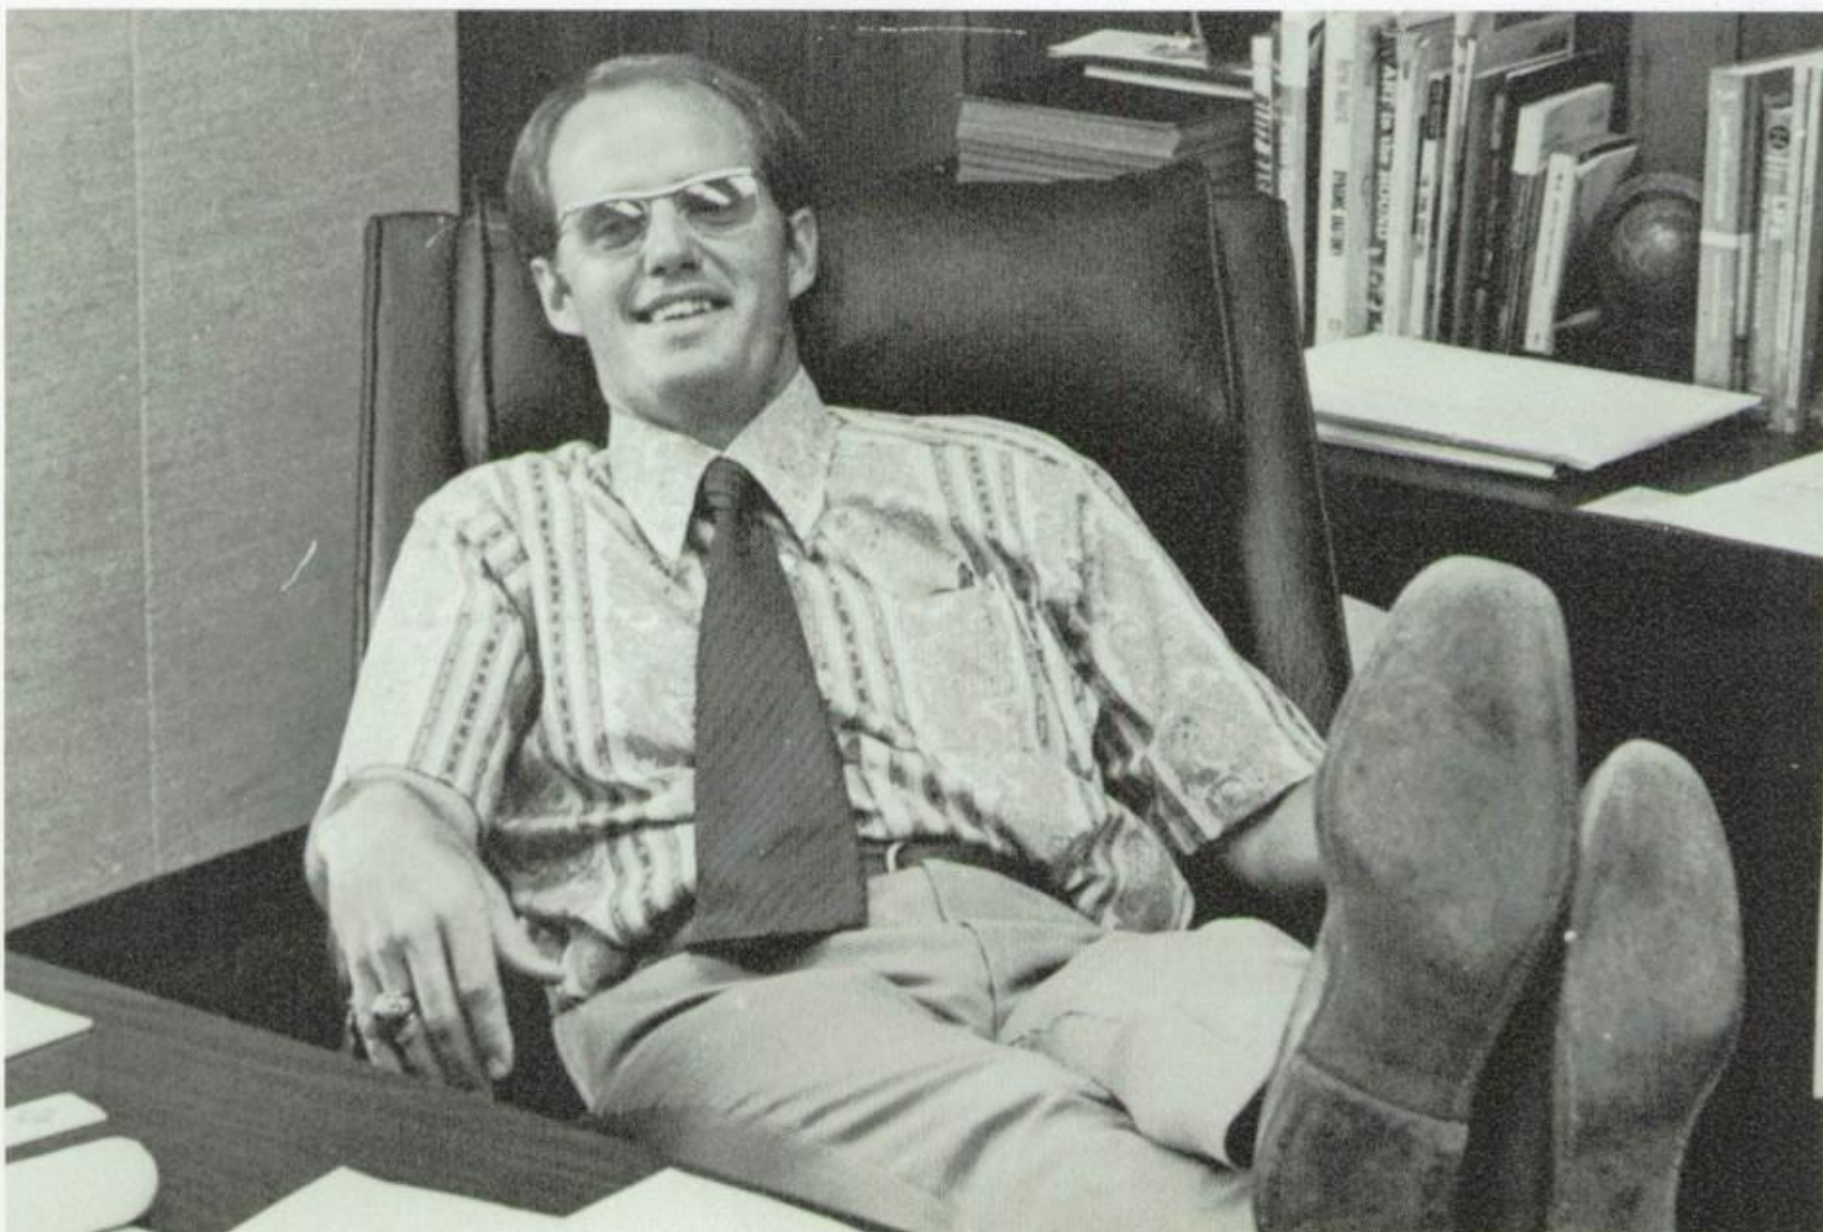

As they kept Prep tradition going in the finest sense of the word, Junior High students did a great job and had lots of fun. They started off the year with another successful football season and more of those "roof-raising" pep rallies. As the year continued, the students participated in dances, student government, "red neck" day, in the trip to Evengeline country, in ninth grade class day, and in Derby Day. Most important, they kept that overwhelming enthusiasm (common to young Patriots) at fever pitch.

The Junior High also made great strides in contributions to campus life. The seventh grade elected a squad of vivacious cheerleaders to urge their team on. A square dance provided an appropriate and enjoyable end to Red Neck Day festivities. And to speed those last days of school, the seventh and eight grade students held a picnic supper at Parham Bridges Park. The members of the annual staff wish to predict these additions to Prep activities as future traditions.

Poor Mrs. Frizzell ponders a perilous problem of running her younger Patriots.

Coach Jerry White relaxes after another strenuous day.

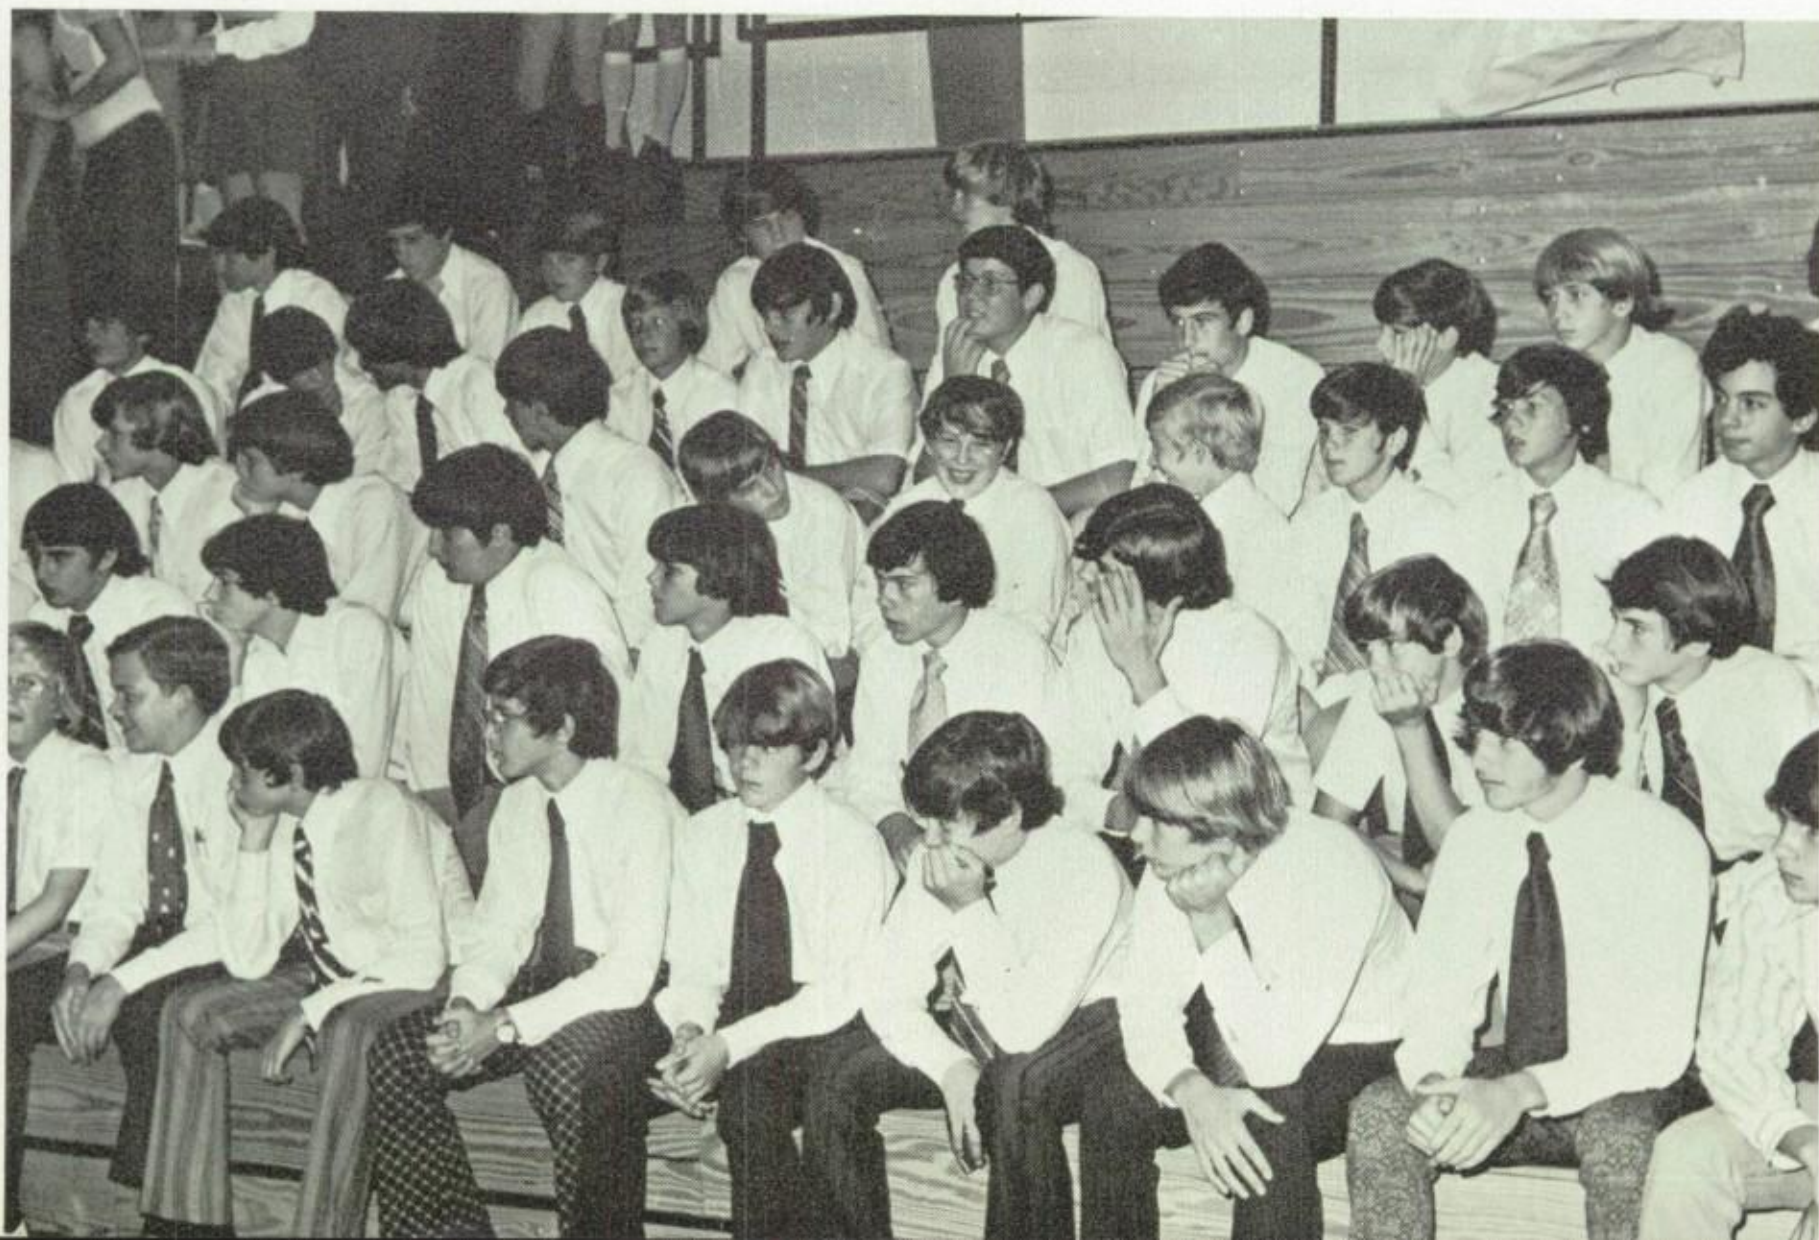

Tommy Dunbar, Bill Green, Randy Harris, and (on the ground) Bobby Mounger reveal their fantastic talent for goofing off.

Rod Little, Dick Wofford, and Bill Bush discuss with Mrs. Judy McKeigney the outs-and-ins of skipping class.

Junior High Student Council Initiates New Policies

The Student Council is headed this year by sponser, Mrs. Little and president Frances Rone (seated); and (standing), vice-president Rod Little and secretary Suzanne Caccamise.

Class officers for 1972-72 include: (back row) seventh grade vice-president, Randy Harris, seventh grade president Bobby Mounger and eight grade vice-president Bill Green; (front row), ninth grade vice-president, Henry Mounger, ninth grade president, Doug Roberts, and eight grade president, Tommy Dunbar.

The Junior High Student Council, this year headed by Frances Rone and Mrs. Little, made additions and changes to the present policies of Prep. Students became actively involved in many phases of school life and community service. The Willard F. Bond Old Men's Home was the site of the council's extensive Christmas project. Members held special parties for these men and sang carols and read scripture to them. The Junior High Council has sponsored dances for the student body periodically during the year. Together with the Senior High, the "Toys for Tots" campaign was success. Council members helped to decorate the Christmas tree in the foyer of the Junior High building.

A special group of ninth grade student council members were chosen this spring to plan and execute class day. New officers were elected and another successful year has been attributed to Jackson Prep's Junior High school history.

Junior Historical Society

Initiated at Prep

This year another new organization was established at Prep. The Junior Historical Society was organized at mid-year to promote an interest in Mississippi's History and for members to learn more about the state in which they live. Coach Marble and Mrs. Fitzgerald joined forces to aid all interested ninth through twelfth graders with a C average in social studies.

Through the remainder of the year, members participated in essay contests, with Prep winning first place, and many members traveled to Natchez for a day touring the pilgrimage homes located there. A scrapbook was organized and members contributed something to Prep's history beginning a new academic club.

Members of the Junior Historical Society include: Mary Frances Nettles, Melanie Robinson, Beth Clark, Amy Feldman, Debbie Hardin, and Jimmy Flint.

The morning Watch committee gather in the office for a meeting. Those present are: (left to right) Suzanne Caccamise, Bobby Mounger, Bill Bush (chairman), Christina Spell, Barbara Sutton, and Gay Lee.

Mrs. Ketchum serves as sponsor for the Morning Watch Committee.

Morning Watch Inspires Many

The Junior High Morning Watch committee gives the devotional each morning over the Public address system. Musical background, inspirational poems, and scriptures offer the student a fresh approach to a new day at school.

Bruce Bollman powerhouses a forehand while . . .

. . . Team-mate Janet Shands hacks her opponent with a backhand.

Cheerleaders Boost Winning Season

Junior High Cheerleaders for 1972-'73 were: Kathryn Becker, Ginger Veazy, Frances Rone, Jan Jacks, Beth Wellford, Suzanne Caccamise, Judy Bickerstaff, and Sheri Peters.

What is red-white-and-blue, has 16 legs, 8 big mouths with 8 big smiles, and a lot of spirit? Give up?! It's the Junior High Cheerleaders!

In the spring all girls with a C average may tryout before a panel of judges. The students body then votes on the eights Junior High Cheerleaders. The 1972-73 Prep Junior High Cheerleaders are Jan Jacks, Head Cheerleader Frances Rone, Suzanne Caccamise, Sheri Peters, Kathryn Becker, Beth Wellford, Ginger Veazy, and Judy Bickerstaff.

The girls practiced several times every week during the summer to prepare for the football and basketball games. During the sport seasons they paint signs for the halls, make pin-on's for the student body, give pep rallies for the teams, and sell pom-poms to booster spirit for the Junior High School. The Girls decorate and serve for the football and basketball banquets.

The Junior High Cheerleaders realize that they are in a position of leadership, and they assume a great responsibility in leading support for our teams and they do a great service for the Prep Junior High student body.

Suzanne Caccamise supports peppy Judy Bickerstaff on "Victory."

Jan Jacks, Sheri Peters, Frances Rone, Judy Bickerstaff, and Beth Wellford pile up on a pyramid.

Heading the Declaration staff this year were teamsters: (front) Larry Nail, Business manager, Candis Wilder, Sponsors, Miss Worthen, Mrs. Morgan, Suxie Nix, and (back) Editor Sonja Schwartz, Fai Moore, and Gini Moffitt.

Declaration Declares . . .

News! Features! Gossip! The Declaration began its second year in publication as the voice of the Junior High Patriots. Under the leadership of head journalist, Sonja Schwartz, an edition of the Junior High paper was delivered once a month. Such events as class elections, Honors Day, Derby Day, and who likes whom, when, and where often received top billing to inform Junior Patriots exactly "What's happening!!"

Features and Art were taken care of by Kem Coffman, Ok Yung Chung, Kaycee Strickland, Dianne Price, and Shippy Sanders.

Keeping track of news and sports was the job for: Kyle Ball, Stephanie Barlow, Stuart Simon, Sherye Simmons, Gay Lee, and Beth Henderson.

Awards Winners Headline Honors Day

Winners of the coveted Danforth Award were Ok Yung Chung, and Bill Bush.

American Legion Awards went to Kaycee Strickland and Rod Little.

These lovely girls not only have looks but also brains. Paige Porter, Lynn Wilder, Kaycee Strickland, Susan Radcliffe, Beth Henderson, Sharon Boleware, Mara Kirby, Ok Yung Chung, Janet Shands, Debbie White, Suzanne Benton, and Denise Owens were 1973 top twelve scholars.

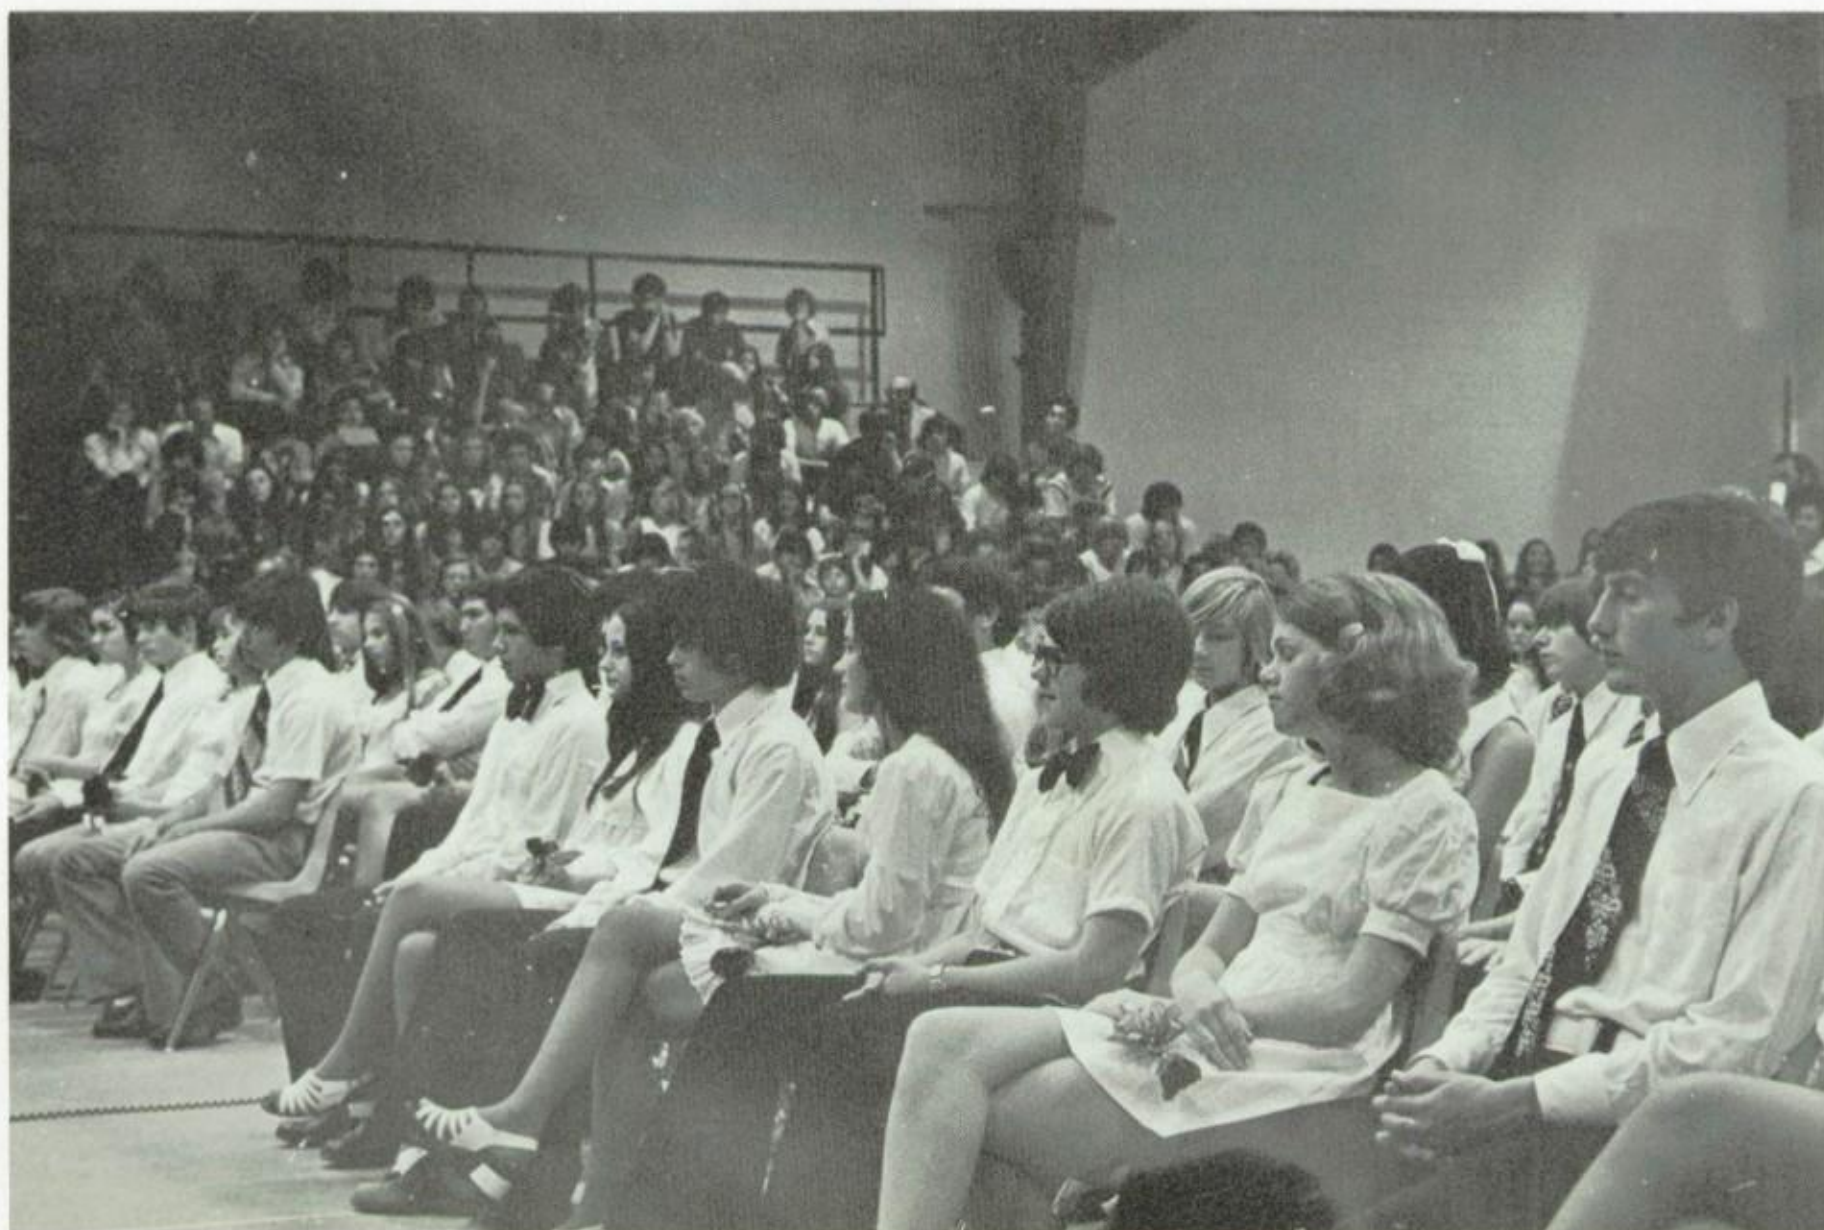

Mr. Jerry White, Junior High principal, presented awards to winners.

Class Day Tradition

Class Day! One final day of ceremony was held again this year to bring to a close the ninth graders of Jackson Prep School's Junior High years. This program was composed and run entirely by members of the class. Long-awaited honors were bestowed to the worthy and academic excellence was recognized. The ninth grade class favorites were also named. Frances Rone, Student body president, delivered her challenge to her fellow classmates and the classes following this ninth grade class of 1973. Her challenge was accepted by next year's president, Nancy Adams. With the end of the program, white dresses and ties were shed for the guise of shorts and bathing suits and the class gathered for a day of fun and sun at the reservoir.

The ninth graders, clad in ties and white dresses, close their Junior High days with a final ceremony.

Maintained for Third Year

Ninth grade president, Doug Roberts greets classmates and guests.

Frances Rone, Student Body President, issues a challenge to friends and those to follow.

Henry Mounger, who served his class as vice-president, gave the invocation for this special occasion.

Students eagerly anticipate the next event.

Junior High Enjoys Second Derby Day

After fifteen endless minutes of fourth period, seventh and eighth graders scurried off to change into their homeroom "uniforms" to begin competition in such activities as: volleyball, egg toss, balloon races, "spoon-and-peanut" races, "lemon and pencil" races, musical ice buckets, and human pyramids. As the day progressed, more exciting events were introduced to the participants. The surprise event was a race to make "mummies" out of homeroom teachers by wrapping them in toilet paper. This exhausting program ended with a tug-of-war, and the students, worn out but ever cheerful, crawled off to go home.

Chewing and cheering was a major sport for Derby Day.

"Hey Coach White! Is the volleyball net supposed to be this low?"

Relay-runners prepare for the big dash.

On the brink of high school, Prep's ninth graders made for themselves a successful and challenging final year in Junior High. Leading the field in sports and honors, Freshmen changed a few things this year and carried on a few traditions. Picnics, a special class day program, and bike-riding united the class in friendship and in common goals. Striving to improve conditions, ninth grade leaders worked for privileges never before realized by Junior High pupils. Honors to the worthy and a class day party at the reservoir ended a meaningful Junior High career for the '73 Freshmen.

Dough Hudgins strikes a "thinker" pose depicting the typical freshman studious (?) pupil.

A little older, yet not quite the oldest was the predicament of eighth graders at Prep in 1973. Fighting for recognition, these students excelled in leadership qualities and in sports. They contributed to all phases of school life. Prep's science fair found eighth graders to be a credit to our academic field. Competition in peppy "Prep" rallies kept the class united. Derby Day and Honors day showed that eighth graders were winners—all the way!

Seventh Grade Discovers That Prep Means "Action"

A new experience for 113 students began in September 1972—Junior High School! There were myriad new faces and each day held a discovery for these seventh graders. In time, things settled down a bit. Students found that those teachers really wouldn't bite, although they could give homework, and that they could make it from class to class in a brief three minute period. As the faces became a little more familiar, class officers were elected and cheerleaders to boost the seventh grade team were chosen. Locker time and free period became more fun. The spring, along with Derby Day and a whirlwind of projects, brought the first taste of exams and anticipation of the middle year in 1973-74.

Liz Rowan and Leslie Head discuss the joys of being seventh graders.

The 1973 Precis Is Dedicated to
Mr. Jesse L. Howell

Through three grueling years, Mr. Howell has weathered the storm—putting up with the reluctant class of '71, the renegade class of '72, and finally, the class of nonconformists and individuals who haunted the school in 1973. Despite all the kidding which was culminated with "The Bald Eagle Award" at the senior breakfast, we deeply respect and appreciate the guidance he has provided through three years of high school and hope that Prep will benefit from his wisdom and discernment for many years to come.

IN APPRECIATION

The 1973 Precis staff initiated a program to receive financial assistance from interested supporters of Jackson Prep. We extend gracious thanks to the following:

TAKE TIME

Take time to play—

it is the secret of youth.

Take time to read—

it is the foundation of knowledge.

Take time to work—

it is the price of success.

Take time to think—it is the source of power.

Take time to dream—

it hitches the soul to the stars . . .

Take time to enjoy friends—

it is the source of happiness.
